Sweeps Opponents in Michigan, Maryland

Pair of Easy Primary Wins for Wallace

By United Press International
George Corley Wallace swept the presidential primaries in Michigan and Maryland Tuesday, but his greatest political success so far was marred by the pain of bullet wounds and the realization he may never walk again.

Robbed of his legs, perhaps forever, by a would-be assassin, and sedated against his suffering, Wallace lay partially paralyzed in a Silver Spring, Md., hospital as Michigan and Maryland awarded him two clear-cut victories.

Not only did Wallace easily outdistance Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern, the two main challengers for the Democratic presidential nomination, but he moved into second place in the number of delegates to the convention and into first place in the number of primary wins.

It appeared that Wallace picked up 112 delegates to give him a total of 311 from primary and nonprimary states. McGovern added 42 for a leading total of 423; and Humphrey picked up 30 for a total of 297.

Wallace now has won five primaries — Michigan, Maryland, Florida, Tennessee, and North Carolina. McGovern won in Wisconsin, Massachusetts, and Nebraska; Humphrey in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and West Virginia; and Edmund S. Muskie in New Hampshire and Illinois.

Michigan gave Wallace his greatest prize—a presidential primary victory in a northern industrial state. And Maryland, where he was gunned down while campaigning Monday, added to the momentum of glory.

McGovern beat Humphrey for second place in Michigan and Humphrey beat McGovern for runnerup in Maryland.

Returns from 99 per cent of the Maryland precincts showed Wallace with 216,019 or 40 per cent; Humphrey second with 144,849 or 27 per cent; and McGovern third with 118,311 or 22 per cent. The remaining votes were scattered among the seven other candidates.

Wallace was leading for 41 of Maryland's 53 delegates and McGovern and Humphrey for 6 each.

In Michigan, returns from 99 per cent of the precincts showed Wallace with 791,321 votes or 51 per cent; McGovern next with 416,671 or 27 per cent; and Humphrey third with 246,546 or 16 per cent. The remainder was shared by four other candidates.

With 132 convention delegates at stake in Michigan, Wallace led for 72, McGovern for 38 and Humphrey for 22.

With Wallace now out of danger, Humphrey and McGovern were expected to continue their campaigns, concentrating on the winner-take-all primary in California and its lode of 271 delegate votes.

Before that contest, the two Midwest senators have to get through the Oregon and Rhode Island primaries next Tuesday. Oregon is considered locked up for McGovern and neither candidate has bothered with Rhode Island's primary.

Wallace, apparently not well enough yet to watch the primary returns on television, was given the good tidings by his wife, Cornelia, who has kept a bedside vigil since the attempted assassination late Monday.

An aide said that Wallace, from his hospital bed, acknowledged the returns "with a big smile and a nod" and other members of the Wallace entourage were determined to go ahead "from a wheelchair, if necessary" to the convention.

Wallace's chief political aide in California said that unless the gunshot wounds make it impossible, the Alabama governor will enter the California primary as a write-in candidate.

Paralyzed Governor Reads All About It

SILVER SPRING, Md. (UPI)—George Wallace was allowed to read newspaper accounts today of his big doubleheader election victory while bouncing back from an assassination attempt.

While still paralyzed from the waist down—possibly a permanent condition as a result of one of four bullet wounds received Monday afternoon at Laurel, Md., Wallace was taken off the critical list at Holy Cross Hospital.

The director of Wallace's national campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, Charles Snider, said the 52-year-old Alabama governor was alert this morning and one of the first things he asked for was a newspaper.

Related stories and photo on page 5.

He had been informed late Tuesday night that he had won both the Michigan and Maryland primaries with hefty margins, and he was permitted to have newspapers to read about them this morning.

The head of the medical team caring for Wallace denied today a report by The Washington Post that Wallace's spinal cord had been severed by a bullet still lodged in his spinal column.

"At this time, despite reports to the contrary, the exact nature of injuries to the spinal cord cannot be determined until surgery is performed," Dr. Joseph F. Schanno said. "The paralysis of his legs remains unchanged."

Schanno had said earlier that Wallace was paralyzed from the waist down by a bullet lodged at the base of his spinal column. The doctors have said the paralysis could be permanent.

The Post quoted "sources close to the operation team" that performed five hours of surgery on Wallace Monday night that it would be a miracle if Wallace ever walked again.

A spokesman for Wallace quoted one of the surgeons as saying "There is no truth" to the report.

Two Alabama doctors who flew here to aid in Wallace's treatment insisted that no one knows yet about the spinal damage pending a second operation sometime later.

Snider said today, "There is no indication of damage to the spinal column. At the same time, we don't know of any sensations he is able to feel (from the waist down)."

There had been one report that a Wallace aide had mentioned the governor had some feeling in the lower part of his body. But from all indications, he has been paralyzed in the lower part of his body and both legs since being shot after speaking at a rally Monday afternoon.

PRAYERS FOR WALLACE—Standing in front of the American flag, wearing a tie of stars and stripes, Jack Poulsen pauses from his job of keeping a running tally at Gov. George Wallace's campaign headquarters in the western Detroit suburb of Romulus to bow his head

during a short prayer ceremony for the fallen Alabama governor. Joining him in prayer are Wallace supporters Ivars Lenss (center) and Mrs. Victoria Munoz. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Seven Americans Killed

Red Rocket Fire Hits Transport

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist 122mm rocket fire today struck a U.S. Air Force C30 transport plane as it was taking off from Kontum airfield in the Central Highlands. Seven of the nine Americans aboard were killed in the crash, field reports said.

The big four-engine Hercules had just completed unloading a supply of ammunition at the airfield 260 miles north of Saigon and the rocket bursts destroyed the ammo as well, UPI reporter Matt Franjola said.

Seven Americans were wounded Tuesday in two similar rocket and mortar attacks on Kontum, a strategic province capital, and two South Vietnamese Air Force C132 transport planes destroyed.

The condition of the two crewmen who survived today's crash was not immediately known. The plane was hit at least twice and crashed into a river east of Kontum, Franjola said.

One week ago, 32 American servicemen were killed when a CH47 Chinook helicopter crashed from unknown causes 20 miles east of Saigon.

Two battalions of South Vietnamese troops aboard U.S. artillery barges. They entered the base without opposition.

(In Washington, U.S. defense officials said they believe four North Vietnamese army divisions now may be in position to attack Hue at any time. They said it "could be the decisive battle of the campaign.")

(One highly placed official told UPI "as to how it will come out, no one knows. I'm optimistic (the South Vietnamese can win), but it could be very bloody, very brutal. I think it will last for days, perhaps weeks, but there will be lulls in there. It could be the decisive battle of this campaign—for either side.")

In other action, Communists blew up two South Vietnamese ammunition dumps late Tuesday and early today, including one at Pleiku airfield in the Central Highlands that exploded with such force it shattered windows in the city two miles away.

Six Americans were wounded in a rocket attack on Kontum Airport.

The blast outside Pleiku was caused either by a mortar round or Communist sappers. South Vietnamese officials had no estimate how much ammunition was destroyed.

Meanwhile in Paris the United States and South Vietnam today informed the Communist Vietnamese that they refused to return to the Paris conference table because Hanoi and the Viet Cong still refuse to negotiate seriously.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong demanded Tuesday that the U.S. and South Vietnamese delegations agree to resume the stalled peace talks Thursday. The United States promptly refused.

Saigon Stopover for Spiro

SAIGON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew made a three-hour stopover in Saigon today to discuss the military situation with President Nguyen Van Thieu and other South Vietnamese and U.S. officials.

Reliable government sources said Agnew gave Thieu renewed assurance of continued American support for South Vietnam both militarily and economically.

Agnew's presidential jet arrived at Tan Son Nhut Airport from Bangkok and he was taken by helicopter to the heavily guarded Independence Palace, where Thieu was on hand to greet him. Their discussions lasted three hours, then the vice president returned to Bangkok.

Agnew and his party had arrived in Bangkok Tuesday afternoon from Tokyo where he took part in ceremonies marking the return of Okinawa to Japan. He was to return to the United States Thursday.

South Vietnamese government sources said the possibility of Communist rocket attacks on Saigon precluded any overnight stay for Agnew in the capital.

He was due back in Bangkok tonight for a dinner in honor of Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, chairman of Thailand's ruling National Executive Council.

Agnew's trip to Saigon served the purposes of showing American determination to help the Saigon government and of gathering information for President Nixon on his planned trip to Moscow starting Saturday.

The vice president, dressed in a gray business suit, walked into the presidential palace accompanied by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S.

commander in Vietnam. Thieu, Vice President Tran Van Huong and other South Vietnamese officials shook hands with Agnew.

Thieu smiled and said to Agnew, "You've been traveling a lot lately." The vice president nodded in agreement and the group retired to Thieu's office for their conference.

No significant military has been reported in Saigon's environs since five rockets struck the city's outskirts more than a month ago.

months at Treasury, Nixon told newsmen the Texan was "the architect of the new economic policy," leader of the fight against inflation, chief negotiator of international monetary agreements and "a tower of strength for the President."

Appointment of George P. Shultz as Secretary of the Treasury indicates no immediate change in President Nixon's economic policies. Story on page 42.

Looking ahead to the November balloting, it can be assumed that Nixon would welcome Connelly's aid in attempting to carry Texas—a state that eluded him in 1960 and 1968.

And a Connelly on the ticket might swing greater weight with Texans than one standing in the wings.

After the President personally announced Connelly's impending resignation, Nixon told Connelly is resigning after 18 officials that "no member of the Cabinet has been more closely associated with me in a personal sense."

"When the going is toughest," said the President, "Secretary Connelly is at his best."

Connelly responded that he has the "profoundest admiration" for Nixon and gives complete support to his policies, foreign and domestic.

At the White House, Connelly told questioning reporters, "I have no political aspirations and no particular ambitions."

His wife Nellie, standing nearby nodded her head in vigorous approval but held up crossed fingers.

Asked if he would run as Nixon's vice presidential candidate if asked, Connelly said he did not think that would happen.

He declared he wanted to avoid "that type of speculation at this point in time."

In any case, the Treasury chief continued: "I'm not going to withdraw from the human race or from the political life of my nation."

Members of the Rondout Valley Teachers Association picketed the Board of Education offices Tuesday night in an apparent "show of support" for their negotiating committee, which entered discussions with the Board of Education and a factfinder Tuesday.

Earlier, Association President Peter Hengstenberg, in a prepared statement, accused the Board of Education of "subverting the law to cover a refusal to negotiate a contract" and promised that the RVTA "shall insist on our legal right to a negotiated contract."

Some 125 Rondout Valley Teachers reportedly participated in Tuesday's demonstration in front of the high school. They said they were expressing their "total dissatisfaction with the lack of progress in the contract dispute."

In the statement read Tuesday night, Hengstenberg said, "We are here tonight to support our negotiating team as they enter the factfinding phases of negotiations, a step made necessary by the board's recent refusal to continue mediation. We stand solidly behind our negotiators because we believe the positions they have taken under our direction is one that is reasonable, fair and worthy of our support."

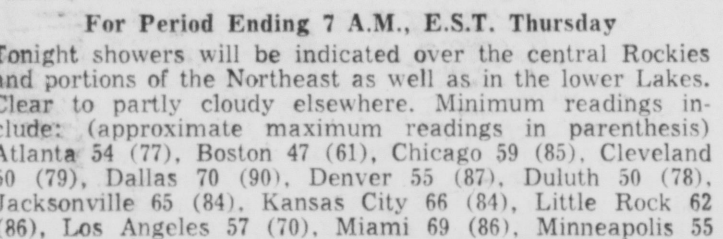

"We are here tonight not to antagonize the Board of Education, but rather because they have antagonized us with their obstinate bargaining position, which not only disturbs us but which should alarm the community as well. We are here to continue making good on our promise to the board that we will not tolerate again the kind of dictate under which we are working this year. In this endeavor, we are united and we invite the board to be witness to that unity and determination."

The first factfinding session took place Tuesday night. The Rondout Valley Teachers Association and the Board of Education presented their sides of the issue. The factfinder will study both sides, and then make an impractical recommendation for a settlement. Those involved may then either accept or reject the factfinder's recommendations.

Under the law, once factfinding has been completed, the school board may hold a legislative hearing and then decree the terms of a settlement. Last year, after medication and factfinding failed to resolve the contract dispute, the Rondout Valley Board of Education decreed a settlement and the teachers have been working under the terms of the non-negotiated contract this year.

Hengstenberg charged that the Board of Education "backed out of mediation" in an effort to move directly to factfinding and "set the stage" for a legislative hearing and non-negotiated contract.

New York State Teachers Association (NYSTA) president Thomas Hobart revealed today that the organization's 105,000 members are in "full support of Rondout Valley and other local teachers who are being denied their legal rights by Burglars have been active in this city again according to police officials who today reported they are investigating a rash of burglaries that have been reported this week.

Among the places allegedly entered by the thieves were: an apartment on John Street where the loot taken reportedly amounted to more than $800; the Goodyear Service Store at 113 North Front Street; the Federal Venetian Blind Corp., 37 O'Neil Street and the Trolley Diner on East Chester Street.

Clifford Carlson notified police that when he returned home he burglarized. Detectives learned that a lock apparently had been pried off the door and furniture drawers had been ransacked and contents strewn on the floor. Investigation disclosed that a man's white gold ring reportedly valued at $840, a man's yellow gold ring with black onyx and diamond chip reportedly valued at $45 and a man's watch allegedly valued at $11 had been stolen.

The Goodyear establishment was apparently entered by prying a rear door. Another door leading from the garage to the main office was reported the break-in was discovered by members of the uniformed division on routine check of business places. Police reported that $196 was missing from the office safe which was unlocked when authorities discovered the apparent break-in. An inventory is being taken to determine whether anything else of value was missing.

Entry at the Federal Venetian Blind Corp. was apparently made by breaking a rear window. Detectives reported a cigarette vending machine was forced open and cash contents and all the cigarettes were reported taken. A green trash authorities theorize it was used to cart off the loot which also included a portable television allegedly worth $125. An old ladder, apparently used by the burglar, or burglars, was found outside the building.

Police said Louise Swait, a waitress at the Trolley Diner, discovered the eatery had been apparently burglarized when she reported for work on Monday. Entry was reported by police as gained through a rear window. Detectives reported a cigarette machine and a pinball unit had been rifled and the contents taken.

Two burglaries were reported cut a glass in the front door of the Kay-May Shop at 20 Clinton Avenue and allegedly made off with $25 that had been taken from the cash register.

A lock was apparently pried off a door at Mike's Scrap Yard at 299 Wall Street. A television set was taken from the office, police said.

Rocky Signs Pay Raise For State Employees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State employees will receive next month the pay raise they have been waiting for as a result of active to April 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller signing the legislation for it Tuesday.

Most of the state's 160,000 employees—at all levels—will receive four per cent raises retroactive to April 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year. Judges will receive their 10 per cent pay raise effective

April 1, 1973. Rockefeller said the higher amount is justified because the judges have not had a raise in two years.

Since the payroll machinery is not put into motion until the governor signs a bill, the state comptroller's office the first contract raises will not be made until next month. The delay in the judges' raises is for "reasons of economy," a Rockefeller spokesman said.

The legislation includes the four per cent pay raise won in the Easter weekend strike of the Civil Service Employees Association.

About 4,500 nonunion management employees and 150 top agency and commission staff members would get the same raise.

The top salaries go to state Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist and State University Chancellor Ernest L. Boyer, who receive $2,000 raises to $33,325. Their $10,000 allowances in lieu of expenses remain unchanged.

In the case of the judges' raises, the increase amounts to $4,784 on the salary of Chief Judge Stanley Fuld of the Court of Appeals, who now receives $47,838.

The legislation also ratifies contracts for State Police and State University faculty and staff.

Rockefeller vetoed a bill that would have permitted school boards to include the cost of interscholastic athletic programs in austerity budgets. He said that the state Education Department recommended rejection of the bill. The department questioned whether the sports programs are more important than school lunches, teaching, equipment, textbooks and transportation which are not mandated in austerity budgets.

The governor approved a bill prohibiting deer hunting party permits until Dec. 31, 1974 in 13 counties of the northern hunting zone. It also prohibits the permits through the end of 1974 in Greene and Ulster counties and through the end of this year in Albany, Columbia and Washington counties.

The sponsor, Assemblyman Glen Harris, R-Canada Lake, said the purpose is allow the deer herds to multiply.

Other bills approved by the governor would double the $5,000 limit on personal loans by banks and forbid passengers to stand in the aisles of buses on nonstop trips of 25 miles or more.

Demonstrators React To Secretary of State

BELFAST, Northern Ireland southwest of Belfast and not far from the border with the Irish Republic. Whitelaw had gone there on a "meet the people" tour.

Asked later by newsmen if the reception had worried him, the secretary replied, "Not a bit."

An army spokesman said three bombs were placed in a work shed southwest of Belfast, forcing a five-mile stretch of the main highway to Dublin to be closed during the night. Bomb experts touched them off without causing damage or injury.

The bombs, each containing between two and three pounds of gelignite, were found late Tuesday in a shed off the main roadway near Lurgan, 20 miles southwest of Belfast, following anonymous calls to police and a Belfast newspaper.

Security forces reported only scattered incidents Tuesday night and today.

In Belfast, a sniper wounded a policeman in the Roman Catholic Lower Falls area and bombs damaged an electricity pylon in the Catholic Andersonstown district.

The incident occurred Tuesday in Newry, 32 miles from Belfast.

Two Frenchmen Now on Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Frenchmen accused of membership in a $293-million heroin-smuggling ring went on trial in U.S. District Court on Tuesday after the judge ruled their extradition from Italy was legal.

Charles Laurent Flocconni, 30, of Paris, and Jean Claude Kella, 26, of Toulon, were among 23 persons indicted Jan. 4 in a scheme to smuggle heroin here from France in 1970 and 1971.

As their trial opened, U.S. narcotics agents reported smashing another international heroin ring with two arrests in Paris and five in New York. In that case, an estimated $50 million worth of heroin was recovered through an Air Force sergeant acting as an undercover agent.

Flocconni and Kella were charged with conspiracy in a scheme to smuggle heroin from France by hiding the narcotic in automobiles and shipping them directly to the United States or by way of Canada.

Richard Berdin, 32, a code-pendant, appeared Tuesday as a witness for the prosecution. Another codependent, Louis G. Rillo, 48, of the Bronx, was convicted in separate trial April 25 and faces sentencing May 25.

Flocconni and Kella were arrested by authorities in Italy in August of 1970 and after a court battle were extradited to Boston last Oct. 6 to face a separate indictment.

After being released on bail in Boston, they were subpoenaed by a grand jury in New York and arrested here.

Bundestag to Ratify Pacts

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German Bundestag was expected to ratify Chancellor Willy Brandt's historic nonaggression treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland today by a comfortable majority, removing one threat to President Nixon's summit talks next week in Moscow.

The treaties, negotiated by Brandt on trips to Moscow and Warsaw in 1970, renounce use of force and recognize German territorial losses to the Soviet Union and Poland in World War II. A series of further steps toward relaxation of tensions in Europe is dependent on acceptance of the pacts.

Final debate on the treaties in the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament, coincided with reopening of the Berlin Wall to thousands of West Berliners for eight days of visits to East Berlin and East Germany during the festival of Pentecost.

The wall had been closed to West Berliners six years ago. The reopening is part of the improvement in East-West relations resulting from Brandt's Ostpolitik, or Eastern Policy, of which the two treaties are the keystone.

Advisory Committee Reviewing Documents

A subcommittee of the Citizens Advisory Committee studying building needs for Rhinebeck Central School is reviewing several evaluative documents on the district's procedures.

According to Thomas Bradley, chairman, the committee is studying the following reports: Middle States Evaluation; Indicators of Quality Report; Student Government Survey; and all documented Board of Education philosophy.

The committee will also set interviews with teachers, administrators, Board members, students, and other segments of the school community after reviewing these documents.

It was stated that the meetings will be informal and "hopefully informative," said Charles Pickhardt, subcommittee chairman. "It is hoped that by obtaining a cross-section of the school's educational philosophy the committee can arrive at determining the scope, quality and relative cost of the school's educational program," he said.

The committee has set a tentative date of July 1 for a preliminary report to the entire the educational program at Citizens Advisory Committee. Rhinebeck is invited to contact Anyone wishing to comment on Pickhardt.

Assemblyman Is Guest Speaker

KINGSTON State Assemblyman Ross H. Stephens of Brewster, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, will be the principal speaker Thursday at a one-day workshop conducted by the American Association of Retired Persons for selected chapter officers and committee chairmen in the eastern part of the state.

The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. James Methodist Church on Fair Street. Mrs. Elise Cussler of Fishkill, a state director of AARP, said that Assemblyman Stephens will speak at a luncheon meeting on state legislation affecting the aging.

About 70 AARP chapter officers and committee chairmen from Schenectady, Saratoga, Rensselaer, Albany, Dutchess, Greene, Ulster, and northern Orange counties are expected to attend the workshop, Mrs. Cussler said.

Robert Solsky of Hartford, Conn., will speak on the AARP Pharmacy Service available to members and describe the workings of the Hartford drug service.

Others who will take part in the orientation and training session are Mrs. Elinor Buchholz of New York City, a professional AARP staff member, and two of Mrs. Cussler's assistant state directors, Lawrence Stadel of Warwick and Evan Pritchard of Albany.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville High School's graduating seniors will get their caps and gowns after all, thanks to the board of education's reversal Tuesday night of the decision it made last week.

Last week the board defeated two motions to provide the caps and gowns, once by lack of a second and once by a two-to-seven against vote. This week, after hearing from a group of about 50 parents and students, the board voted 5-3 to put up the cap and gown money.

The Ellenville district is currently operating under an austerity budget. Last July 6, during budget voting, district voters turned down a proposition which would have allowed the district to meet graduation expenses.

The board had received an opinion from board attorney Benjamin Lonstein which said it could provide certain graduation items like diplomas, as well as caps and gowns, if it wanted to, but the board members who spoke on the subject last week said they felt the public had indicated it didn't want money spent on graduation. The board went along with tickets, programs, and diplomas, but balked at caps and gowns.

During the past week, the seniors have evidently been busy. Petitions requesting district money for caps and gowns were presented to the board Tuesday night, with 91 seniors' signatures, and 591 signatures of district residents.

At the meeting, Michael Kossar, president of the student body, said he thought the board could provide the cap and gown money since they were giving money for other items. Rhona Polonsky, senior class president, pointed out that the seniors were already raising the money for the organ and flowers for the ceremony, and the caps and gowns would be a heavy additional burden.

Several parents asked the board to reconsider, and several demanded it reconsider.

One board member who said he had already reconsidered was Richard Shore. Shore said he voted against the matter last week, but talking with people and further reflection had convinced him the board's first obligation was to the students, and he offered the resolution to pay for the caps and gowns.

Board member Eugene Houck seconded the motion, and congratulated the student council on being the most active he had seen in his six years on the board.

The meeting was originally called as a special budget meeting, but no decisions were made.

Board member Jack Siegel offered his lists of cuts, totalling $71,100 approximately, including the suggestion that all district employees making over $15,000 a year waive their raises. A member of the audience asked board president James J. Murray if he thought a teachers strike would result if that measure were put into effect, and he said he was "absolutely certain" of it.

Siegel also suggested cuts in the amounts budgeted for substitute teachers, teacher aides, instructional supplies, equipment, instructional repairs and replacement, field trips, textbooks, and psychological services, among others.

The proposed budget for 1972-73, which has been defeated, and the approved propositions add up to increases totalling about $400,000. This would mean a tax increase for district residents of about $24 per thousand assessed valuation.

Dr. Arnold P. Wolff, whose term of office expiring, told the board it should decide if it wants a good school or a "cheap" school. "If you want to run a cheap school," he said, "let's cut staff." He said he personally was in favor of a good school, and supported the budget as it stood.

Shore said he would support a budget if about $60,000 in cuts were made. Siegel said he would support the budget with the cuts he suggested. With nothing resolved, the board will meet next Tuesday. The meeting is scheduled as a closed session.

The association acted after hearing a report from Mrs. Bette Maxson, chairman of the town's beautification committee, who said the firms had allegedly had been violating the ordinance for some time. She said that "one firm has at least 15 cars parked within three feet of the Ulster Avenue Mall right-of-way."

TOWN OF ULSTER

The Ulster Businessmen's Association has called on the Town of Ulster for stricter enforcement of town junkyard laws.

At its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, the group directed a letter to the town board calling attention to four firms it says are violating the ordinance that regulates storage of inoperative cars, highway setbacks, screening fences, and other matters relating to junk cars.

The group met at Lincoln Park Inn in the Ulster Avenue Mall.

The association acted after hearing a report from Mrs. Bette Maxson, chairman of the town's beautification committee, who said the firms had allegedly had been violating the ordinance for some time. She said that "one firm has at least 15 cars parked within three feet of the Ulster Avenue Mall right-of-way."

"The town should either enforce the ordinance or remove it from the books," Mrs. Maxson said.

Louis Gruberg, chairman of the UBA highway committee, reported that a meeting had been held recently with a local representative of the Department of Transportation regarding the condition of Ulster Avenue Mall. Gruberg said that local DOT officials are limited in what they can do and the association would arrange a meeting with DOT officials in Albany to discuss the situation, especially the reportedly hazardous conditions at the intersection of Ulster Avenue Mall and the East Chester Street bypass.

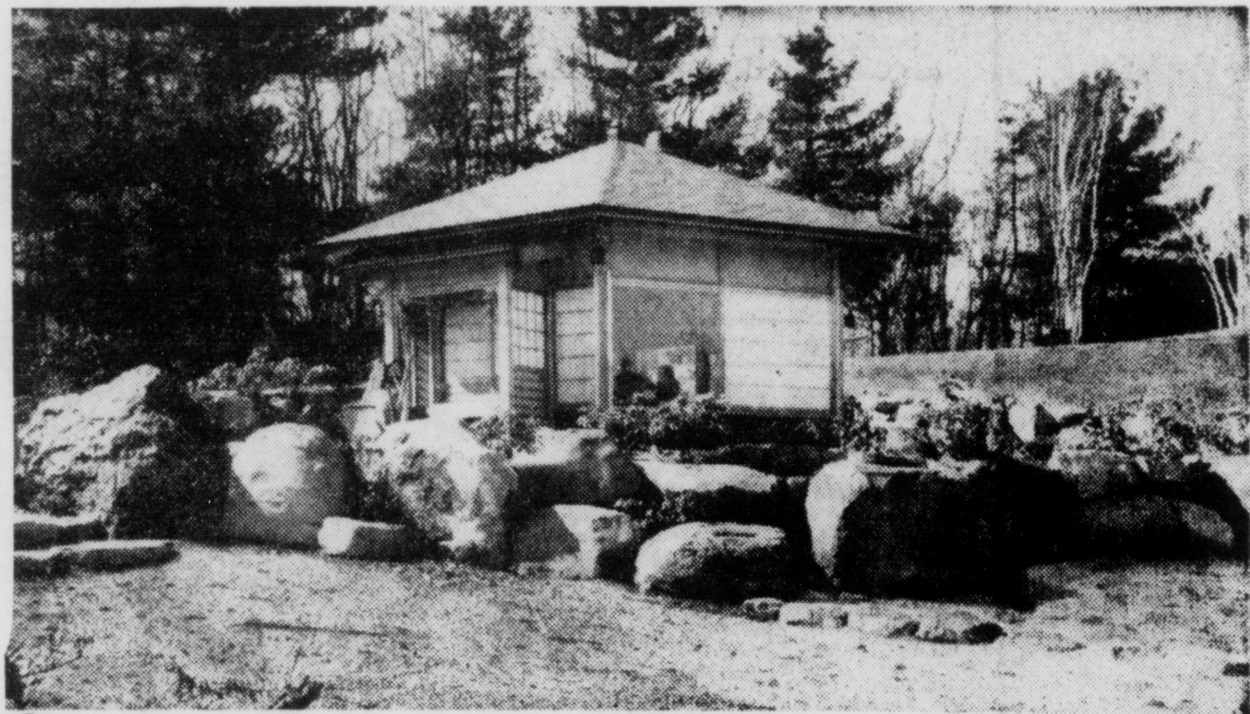

Gruberg said that representatives of the Ulster County Planning Board and the Town of Ulster Highway Department would be invited to go along for the Albany meeting when it is arranged.

Louis DiDonna called on the association to reaffirm its stand calling for the state to convert Ulster Avenue Mall into a four-lane undivided highway within the present right-of-way from the Kingston city limits northward to the Route 209 cloverleaf.

The association also directed that a letter be sent to Kingston Postmaster Oscar Newkirk noting that Ulster Avenue Mall has been numbered along its entire length for some time and requesting that the Postal Service furnish mounted route service, with all mail delivered to the door. The portion of the Mall northward from Boice's Lane is still serviced by rural delivery route, they noted.

The association also noted that a new post office branch was in operation at the Hyway Pharmacy, 1220 Ulster Avenue Mall, furnishing all normal postal window services from 8-5 Monday through Friday and from 8-12 noon Saturday.

"Get up a party of 8," Burt said, "and they'll let you eat in your own private teahouse."

"It's just like the ones you've seen in those scenic Japanese movies. A teahouse — your own private teahouse — sliding doors and all.

They even found a perfect spot for it. High on a hill atop the Japanese rock garden overlooking Gasho.

So what's Gasho? Gasho's a real 15th century Japanese farmhouse that's a restaurant in disguise, that's what. And it serves up the best teppanyaki cooking this side of Osaka.

Gasho's also about trees, an authentic Japanese water wheel and water bridge, on 22 acres of glorious countryside. And you can see most of it while sipping a Banzai cocktail in the teahouse.

Meanwhile, as your eyes are taking in the scenery, your chef's cooking up a feast beneath your nose. He takes slabs of steak, then — slit, slit — slices them up into thick sirloin chunks.

He dices shrimps, big juicy ones. He turns chicken into an absolute delight by sprinkling it with sesame seeds. And piles your plate with mushrooms, zucchini, loads of crispy vegetables.

So get together a party, anywhere from 8 to 18 people, call up Gasho (914-928-2387), and ask for the teahouse. (Don't worry if somebody beats you to it — you can always eat in Gasho's 15th century farmhouse.)

Then take the New York Thruway to Harriman Exit #16, turn right on Route 32 for two miles.

You might even meet my cousin Burt going out on your way in. He could never get enough of a good thing, you know."

Seen Reinforcing Decision Not to Run

Wallace Shooting May Have Decided Kennedy's Future

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The attempted assassination of George C. Wallace may have its greatest long-term impact on the future of Edward M. Kennedy.

But after the shooting, as well as before, Wallace remains a "spoiler" who has shaken up the Democratic party, aroused a well-spring of protest, carved out a heady constituency, but has no chance at all of winning the nomination.

To Kennedy, the shots fired at Wallace in a suburban Washington shopping center may well have sealed any lingering doubt about accepting a presidential draft in 1972 and perhaps in the years ahead.

Kennedy, who lost two brothers to the bullets of assassins, has steadfastly insisted that he is not a candidate. But the feeling has persisted that if a deadlocked convention turned to him, he could not refuse his party.

The assassination attempt is certain to reinforce Kennedy's decision not to make himself available—a decision based in part on the possibility that his death at the hands of a killer would rob his children and those of his brothers, Robert F. and John F., of the family patriarch.

The shooting came as Wallace was winding up his primary campaign for the nomination. After three victories (Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee) and possibly two more today (Michigan, Maryland), Wallace planned no more major efforts in primary states, although he contemplated a write-in effort in California June 6.

Despite the fact that Wallace may come to the convention with 300-400 delegate votes pledged to him on the first ballot, he can go no higher. That is his high-water mark.

After the shooting, as well as before, the race is between Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern and the crossroads may be California.

If neither of the Midwest senators can win the nomination and the national convention begins to look for a compromise candidate to break the deadlock, it will look high and low but never for Wallace.

Nor will Humphrey or McGovern deal with Wallace, although they certainly will attempt to sway Wallace delegates. He will have an impact on the platform with his espousal of tax reform but it is unlikely that the Democrats can swallow, without flinching, his total opposition to school busing.

There may be an impact on the Humphrey and McGovern campaigns.

The two leading challengers for the nomination are anxious to start campaigning full-time in California with its winner-take-all primary and 271 delegate votes. Both suspended their campaigns immediately after they learned Wallace had been shot.

Humphrey and McGovern have some breathing room. Both are virtually bypassing campaigning in the Oregon primary May 23, which is considered locked up for McGovern.

But they are anxious to move. To each, California is the most important primary on the road to the national convention July 10.

Governor's Candidacy Will Be Continued

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace has played upon a chord of political protest that won't be silenced by the bullets that for the present have stilled his presidential campaign.

It is a campaign that seemed destined to reach its high point on Tuesday with the Alabama governor favored to win the Democratic primary elections in Maryland and Michigan.

But Wallace could prove more formidable in the weeks ahead from a hospital bed, a martyr to his political cause, than as an active campaigner trying to become a Democratic power broker.

In Maryland and Michigan, Wallace enlarged on the bloc of presidential-nominating votes that now rank him third in the field. Wallace has 210 votes. Sen. George McGovern led with 358 first-ballot commitments. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey had 241½.

It appears certain that somehow the 1972 Wallace movement is going to be continued even with the candidate himself out of action—that almost surely the effort will be made to hold his delegates in a force that will have a cut in the divided Democratic convention.

AP Analysis

There is no obvious stand-in or campaign successor to Wallace. His was essentially a one-man show. There were about 1,000 people on hand at Laurel, Md. when Wallace was gunned down Monday. No other Democrat can turn out that kind of crowd for a weekday political rally.

Nonetheless, with the governor out of the campaign, it is likely someone will stand in to represent him as a symbol of the mood of protest on the Democratic right.

After Tuesday, Wallace appeared to have no place to go in the primaries. His name is on the ballot for the May 23 election in Oregon and Rhode Island, but neither is in territory likely to prove particularly friendly.

His three previous primary election victories were scored in the South, in Florida, Tennessee, and North Carolina. He ran strong in losing the primaries in Wisconsin and Pennsylvania.

Wallace is not entered in the California primary which will award 271 nominating votes on June 6. He talked of a write-in campaign there, and had considered the possibility of campaigning in New Mexico which votes the same day.

Now a Wallace proxy could turn up in one or more of those campaign states to seek whatever support there is to be had for the wounded Alabama governor.

It is conceivable that Cornelia Wallace, wife of the governor, might stand in for him at some campaign appearances. There is a precedent. Ineligible to succeed himself when his initial term as governor of Alabama ended, Wallace in 1966 ran his first wife, Lurleen, for the office. She won, but died of cancer before her four-year term was over.

Jack Anderson Says

G-Men And the American Bedrooms

WASHINGTON—The secret FBI files show that G-Men spend an inordinate amount of time peeking into American bedrooms.

Their preoccupation with sex is evident — in spite of the fact that, taken together, the 8,500 Special Agents make up what is unquestionably one of the greatest collection of prudes in the country.

The late, redoubtable J. Edgar Hoover was himself a man of Victorian virtues who went so far as to ban pants suits for his female employees. Regularly, he purged agents caught carousing with paramours.

A careful review of the hundreds of FBI documents in our possession has failed to turn up a single instance wherein an agent used unseemly language. Indeed, they strain themselves to describe delicate situations.

The army of agents who follow Jane Fonda around, for example, often have difficulty conveying her language. One memo, stamped "Secret — No Foreign Dissemination," contains a review of her anti-military roadshow which, wrote the investigator, "consisted of songs such as 'Kiss My A —'."

Special Agent James E.

Farmer of the San Antonio field office had a similar problem composing a memo on Madalyn Murray O'Hair, the celebrated atheist who successfully sued to ban prayer from public schools.

Because of a pending extradition from Hawaii to Maryland, Mrs. O'Hair was having trouble obtaining a passport and she wrote a nasty letter to the State Department. Reported agent Farmer:

Naughty Word
"On February 2, 1962, Madalyn Murray, in a letter to the Passport Division, indicated she was going to federal court about this matter and stated, 'I do not care to — around with you further.' The above omitted word is a four-letter word which has a sexual connotation and was omitted because of this."

For all of their priggishness, however, the federal sleuths are incorrigible gossips about sex. Their memos contain the most intimate details about the people they spy on.

The Los Angeles office, for example, has an avid curiosity about the sex aberrations of movie stars.

"During 1965," begins a summary of one famous actor's file, "a confidential informant reported that several years ago while he was in New York he had an affair with movie star —." The informant states that from personal knowledge he knew that (the actor) was a homosexual."

The G-Men have also peeped into the bedroom of a black, female vocalist who is known for her sensuous singing style.

"In October, 1966," wrote an agent, "information was received from a reliable source that (a prominent woman) was suing her husband, principal owner of (a Las Vegas hotel), for divorce as a result of Mrs. — catching her husband in bed with (the singer)."

The bureau's unusual interest in the sexual habits of the famous has by no means been confined to the entertainment world. The dossier on a well-known black writer contains the report, stamped "Secret," that a teacher "advised during the summer of 1966" the author had rented an apartment but "was evicted by the landlord for having homosexual parties."

Athlete's Indiscretion

The affairs of a prominent athlete are also catalogued in titillating detail:

"(The athlete) has been observed intoxicated on several occasions and also reportedly had an affair with an airline stewardess who became pregnant as a result of this association. It is alleged that an abortion was arranged for this girl by the wife of —, the operator of a restaurant-bar in New York. It is understood that the abortion had to be postponed due to the arrest of —'s wife on charges stemming from an abortion ring."

The FBI also maintains peepholes into the bedrooms of black leaders. Agents triumphantly discovered an "illicit affair" involving one prominent black. Confides the report:

"The source related an incident which occurred some time ago in a New York City hotel, where (the black leader) was intoxicated at a small gathering. (he) threatened to leap from the 13th floor window of the hotel if this woman would not say she loved him."

The most unlikely and unproved sex stories turn up in the FBI files. States a report on a black religious leader:

"A confidential source on May 16, 1958, advised he had learned that (the reverend) — recently mentioned — that some years ago a newspaper in South Carolina had printed a story about him. This story, which he said was not true, alleged he had illicit relations with an underage girl. (The reverend) had been referred to recently in Congress."

"Consequently, he said he was wondering how he should comment regarding this story. The consensus of opinion (among his advisors) was that he should adopt the position that this story was old, not true, and he had no desire to dignify it by discussing the matter."

It turned out that the story had been inserted in the Congressional Record by routin' tootin' Rep. John Rarick, D-La., one of the most irresponsible members of Congress.

Nonetheless, the FBI searched the record for Rarick's scurrilous speech, which was faithfully reproduced in the black leader's file.

Jobs for Veterans

Between 1969 and 1971, 3.1 million veterans returned to civilian life. Some went back to school or college. But there was a net labor force increase of about 1.8 million for veterans between April of 1969 to April of 1972.

In announcing these figures, Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson said that the veterans received 25 per cent of all new jobs created in the nation last year, and they will continue to get preference. Due to rapid withdrawal, however, the veterans are joining the work force faster than available jobs can be found to fit their skills.

It is encouraging to learn that 538 veterans found work last year, a rise of 16.5 per cent. However, 357,000 still are without jobs. Many of are being trained by the Veterans Administration for the skill the jobs require. Hodgson said the Government has provided an absolute preference for veterans in job-training programs.

A job fair in Chicago this week found 800 employers' representatives seeking to recruit more than 5,000 jobs. Job fairs on lesser scales are recruiting in smaller cities. In all the veterans get the preference.

Veterans make up less than 5 per cent of the labor force. Yet in the rise from 79 million to 81.2 million in the work force this last year, veterans got more than one-fourth of the new jobs. Employers are not saying much about it, but as with all other wars of this century, they are doing their bit by providing job openings for the nation's returned servicemen and women.

40 Million Taxpayers

Some 40 million taxpayers have unwittingly put the Government in a bind. They are the wage and salary earners who are claiming fewer exemptions than they are entitled to under the most recent income-tax law. The result is that the government is overwithholding money due them — and with their connivance — and it is causing a serious problem.

The Treasury Department estimates that if most of the 40 million taxpayers do not get W-4 forms and claim the extra exemptions due them, so that the tax withheld matches the tax they will have to pay, some $5 billion to $8 billion may be kept out of the economy until the end of the year. Such an amount could reduce consumer spending and slow down the recovery of the retail end of the economy, which showed improvements in March and April.

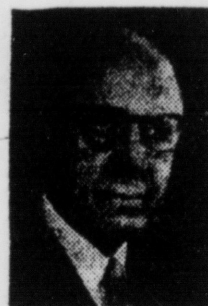

Because of the higher spending by consumers in March and April, the Treasury is not as worried about the overwithholding as it was earlier in the year, but it still wants people to adjust their withholding amounts. If consumer spending continues to be high and is booming by next spring, that might be the wrong time to put $5 billion to $8 billion in the hands of consumers in tax refunds. This could trigger another inflation rise.

Those who can claim the exemption are single people with one job and making less than $25,000 a year; and couples where one works and the income is under $31,000 a year. Additional exemptions can be claimed if the taxpayer can show that he will have a large number of itemized deductions during the coming year and which will decrease his taxes.

Generally, taxpayers who have overwithheld have done so by not claiming all the exemptions to which they are entitled. Many want to force themselves to save, or to be sure they have enough money withheld to pay their taxes. Ordinarily this is a commendable attitude. However, the greater wisdom is that money collected each week can earn interest in savings accounts and be greater than the overwithheld amount.

RECRUITING AT TUFTS—The executive committee of the Board of Trustees of Tufts College, Medford, Mass., has put patriotism above student and faculty opposition. It voted to continue to allow military recruiting on campus. At last a college which won't be frightened or pressured into decisions.

U.N. and the Viet War

WASHINGTON—The United Nations could at any moment intervene in the Vietnam War and try to bring about a cease-fire as a first step toward peace negotiations between North and South Vietnam.

The Secretary General of the U. N. since last Tuesday just what action the Security Council should take with respect to the situation in Vietnam. He has authority to convene the council and bring the issue before it, though, of course, a veto of any proposal could be exercised by any permanent member of the council, including the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States.

There is another way to do it, however, and that is to place the whole problem before the General Assembly and ask the entire membership to vote on the issue. If two-thirds of the members want the United Nations to intervene and recommend a settlement, no veto could be applied.

It may be assumed that the U. N. would be able to perform the task of "international supervision" which Mr. Nixon referred to in his speech and see that done were the "minimum measures" to defend South Vietnam against the North Vietnamese invasion.

Secretary General Waldheim has been discussing with the diplomats of the U. N. since last Tuesday just what action the Security Council should take with respect to the situation in Vietnam. He has authority to convene the council and bring the issue before it, though, of course, a veto of any proposal could be exercised by any permanent member of the council, including the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States.

There is another way to do it, however, and that is to place the whole problem before the General Assembly and ask the entire membership to vote on the issue. If two-thirds of the members want the United Nations to intervene and recommend a settlement, no veto could be applied.

It may be assumed that the U. N. would be able to perform the task of "international supervision" which Mr. Nixon referred to in his speech and see that a cease-fire was properly maintained. The United Nations could undertake negotiations as a neutral tribunal and come up with a settlement derived from the proposals made by both sides. The Americans held prisoner could be released, and during the four-month period when the total withdrawal of our forces was being completed, the arrangements for peace would be carried out provided both sides accepted the formula proposed by the U. N.

There is every reason why an outside peace commission would accomplish more than is being achieved by the set of negotiators now at Paris. Who spend most of their time in futile efforts to get their own points accepted by the other side.

There is certainly every reason why the Russians might well advise the North Vietnamese to let the United Nations take hold of the problem — by endeavoring to form a new set-up in Vietnam and preserve the independence of each country. The Geneva accords of 1914 were the result of an international conference under neutral auspices. The Vietnam War, which has caused so much loss of life and property, could be handled the same way — by the intercession of an outside group of governments.

No official statements have been made by either North or South Vietnam or by the United States about accepting the intervention of the United Nations. But every day it is becoming more and more apparent that only a disinterested tribunal is going to settle the conflict and find a way to work out a compromise that will be acceptable to both sides.

If peace is not soon made in Indochina, there will be a huge loss of life among civilians as well as military personnel throughout the area. The destruction in North and South Vietnam will be massive and the human suffering incalculable. So it does seem logical that the friends of North Vietnam—Red China and the Soviet Union—would see the wisdom of bringing about a settlement and stop relying upon endless bickering in Paris while the fighting continues.

Mr. Lincoln's Wooden Horse

The little courtroom was hot. The ruddy-faced judge leaned across the bench and spoke to a bailiff. The oath was given to the summer grand jury, a collection of whiskered men with faces in varying shades of villainy.

The lawyers wore string ties and big collars in spite of the heat. They traded whispers and documents and vacation stories.

The tall skinny lawyer sat alone. His legs were crossed, the warty features were sad, the black hair uncombed. He sat in the front row, hands clasped in an attitude of prayer, the left eye half closed in a doze. He was regarding the judge.

The lawyer was Abraham Lincoln. The day was August 10, 1857. The event was the convention of the Sangamon County Circuit Court. Mr. Lincoln was 48. He was an ambitious Illinois politician, a man who would take a pig or a brace of turkeys as a fee.

He was a moody man, a man astride an emotional pendulum. In an hour, he could swing from deep melancholia to gaiety. He was Methuselah and he was Huckleberry Finn. He was married to an hysterical, plump little woman whose face purpled with venom and jealousy. By the same token, Mr. Lincoln was difficult to live with. His moods were beyond his control and, at dinner, he often plunged the family into gloom. One day, when a grocer complained about Mrs. Lincoln's bursts of temper, Mr. Lincoln laid a hand on the grocer's shoulder and murmured: "Can you not stand for 15 minutes what I have stood for 15 years?"

On this day, Mr. Lincoln had little work to do. Tuesday, he would be involved in a case regarding the appointment of trustees to the State Bank of Illinois. In the afternoon of the same day, he would be one of three attorneys representing John Barnshovel, charged with committing murder. He sat watching the judge. And he studied the newly impaneled men on the grand jury.

Most of all, he would remember the judge. And the judge would remember Mr. Lincoln. Not so much because of the law cases which were unraveled between them day by day in town by town. They would remember each other because of the transaction between them.

The judge was shrewd and mean. He used his position to bring the lawyers to heel. He pressed them to compete with each other for his smile. One afternoon, he said to Mr. Lincoln: "I suspect that you do not trust me." The lawyer was compelled to lie. "How can you say that, Your Honor?" he said. "I would trust you with my life."

His Honor smiled benignly from the bench. He had jockeyed this homely, middle-aged man into a position from which there could be no retreat. The judge masked his emotions and said: "In that case, Mr. Lincoln, you and I will trade horses sight unseen tomorrow morning before court convenes."

The lawyers standing around the bench burst into undecorous laughter. They slapped their thighs. The downstate lawyer who had beaten them in so many cases was about to be swindled legally. Mr. Lincoln would bring his good horse up to the courthouse. The judge would lead a swayback nag, sick and weak, and the two men would swap.

In the morning, the lawyers waited outside the Springfield courthouse for the transaction. There was laughter and there were jokes. It was good to see Mr. Lincoln beaten. This pious, non-drinking, non-chewing, non-swearing man needed a trimming.

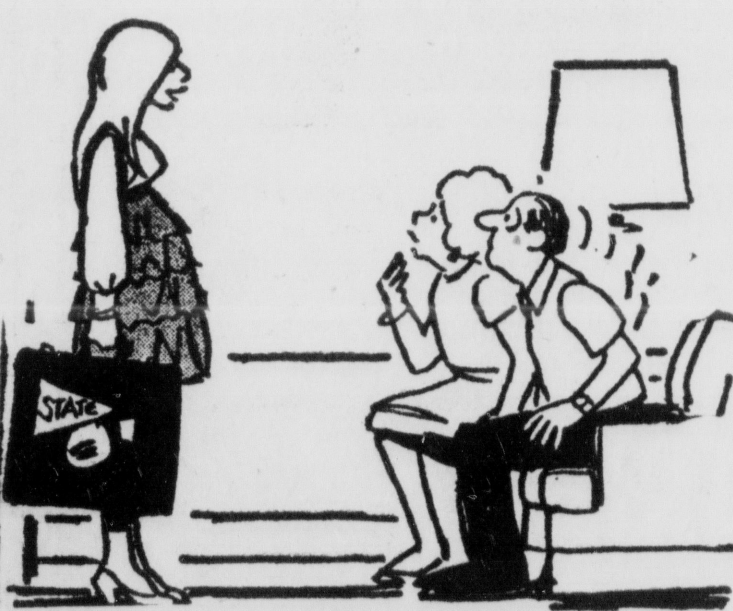

It had rained in the night. The street was thick with tawny mud. The morning shoppers washed down the wooden-plank sidewalk with skirts lifted and parasols over heads.

A shout went up. Someone saw the judge coming down the middle of the street. His black stovetop hat was down over his little blue eyes and a cigar jutted upward from his teeth. He was leading a weak nag which was so far gone that some lawyers wanted to bet it would not be able to get to the courthouse. It had split hooves and was a wind-sucker.

The horse arrived and almost sank to its knees. The lawyers on the sidewalk were in hysterics. Someone looked up in the other direction and saw Mr. Lincoln coming around the corner of the courthouse. He walked directly to the judge.

"Your Honor," he said sadly, "this is the first time I've ever been beaten in a horse trade." He took the wooden carpenter's horse from his shoulders and handed it to the judge.

"It's the latest thing in fashion—you strap a pillow to tummy and you've got the 'pregnant look!'"

THE GOSSIP COLUMN

by
ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

Laurie: Joe calls her Rosie.

Q: Is the French-British supersonic transport, the Concorde, ever going to start flying in regular service? — J.L., San Diego

A: Developing a plane of that complexity takes time and money, about $2.5 billion to date, and problems are bound to crop up. The Concorde seems unable to fly from Paris to New York with a full payload of passengers and still arrive with the required fuel reserve. It can make it from London all right, but not from Paris. Some French officials wanted to forget the whole thing, but the project is still "go." For the Paris-New York run some four to eight of its 132 passenger seats might have to be removed. This would be a serious handicap for a fuel-hungry plane whose payload is only 7 per cent of its total weight, compared with 15 per cent on subsonic jet liners. To show their confidence in the Concorde the French are flying the craft on an ambitious Far East demonstration tour. It is being accompanied, however, by another jet transport carrying a spare engine, just in case. The French are proud of their plane, but they are also a practical people.

QUESTIONS UNLIMITED: What is the Windsors' latest quandary? Whether or not to sue a Spanish refugee writer who picked a French TV show as the place to tell his tale about the Duchess and how her facelift came undone at a party when a guest unexpectedly made her laugh. The writer-gossip, promoting his book about famous people, told the story as true. Of course, it couldn't happen since no one with a lift would be out in public so soon after the operation with the stitches in splittable shape. This is typical of the slander the Windsors endure. The Duke considers it would be beneath a former King of England to sue for slander.

Q: We're having a debate about whether Kaye Ballard is married to Paul Lynde or to the gentleman she played with in "The Mothers-in-Law." Also, how did she lose all that weight?—A.Z., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: Kaye has been married only to her career since age 16. She is one of the hardest workers in show business. The doctor who started Kaye on her weight loss was Michael Walczak of Los Angeles, but repeated visits to diet farms also helped. Mostly, Kaye says, it was the exercise of pushing herself back from the table when they served the pasta.

Ballard: Her pasta has a past.

Q: Aren't director Otto Preminger's ex-wives both named Mary, thereby creating confusion? — W.R., Boston, Mass.

A: Preminger has only one ex alive, his second wife named Mary. Perhaps you were thinking of his first wife, the Hungarian Manczi Deutsch, who changed her name to Marion after they married. This ex-Mrs. Preminger, known thereafter as Marion Mill Preminger, died recently. She had caused Otto years of confusion by clinging to his name even after she married someone else. Marion often referred to herself as "The Honorable Mrs. Preminger." When a columnist asked her once if she intended to marry someone else, she said yes, and when he remarked that then she'd have to let Otto go, she said, "That I'll never do." But now she finally has.

Q: Was Jeanne Moreau ever married and did she or didn't she have a fling with Lee Marvin? — S.W., Boston.

A: Moreau was married to a French film director and they had a son who is now in his twenties. He has had some problems and been in and out of sanitariums. Yes, the many contacts with strangers, and limits her acting to situations where she can be choosy. Piper is happily married to Newsweek writer Joe Morgenstern, who, as well as her friends, calls her by her real name, Rosie.

Q: Piper Laurie was one of my favorite actresses. Can you tell me why we no longer see her in movies and TV? — M.L., Clarksdale, Miss.

A: Piper, whose career was created, along with that of Tony Curtis, back in the silly season of Hollywood trumpery, went on to prove she was a very talented actress, not just a publicity person. But after an intimate Hollywood friend of hers, TV director James Yarborough, died from an accidental overdose of barbiturates, Piper shrank more and more into her shell. Today she prefers not to have too

Nature of Communism

I am sorry to hear of so many who seem to prefer supporting Communism, to supporting the President of their own nation. I feel a sense of loyalty alone should cause them to hold their peace at a time of crisis, such as we are now facing. Maybe the reason for their actions is a lack of understanding of the true Nature of Communism. So many words used are familiar to us but their meanings have been greatly changed when used by Communists.

Let us examine a few of them:

Communism to most Americans means merely having things in common, but today it means Totalitarianism of the most ruthless form, the masses controlled by a few.

The people, to us this means everybody, regardless of race, religion or status in life, but to the Communist it means only those who accept and are loyal to communism.

Freedom, to us this means liberty, come and go freely, speak freely and think as you wish on any subject. Under communism it is slavery, answering roll calls, getting travel permits to go from one village to another, confession of every detail of your life.

Truth, to us this means that which is actually so, right. Under communism it is propaganda, lies anything that helps the cause.

Moral, to us this means what is right according to the standard of God's Moral Code, the Ten Commandments. To the Communist it means whatever promotes their cause, which is world revolution and world enslavement.

Taxes, in this country are a portion of our earnings, or an assessment on property we own. Under communism it is a levy intended to keep everyone wholly dependent on the government for daily bread.

Justice, to us means protection of our rights as human beings, under known laws. Under communism there are no rules. There is no black and white, your fate is already determined by the authorities before you come to trial.

Re-education, to us would mean having a chance to learn differently, to communists it means imprisonment until indoctrinated and ready to submit to their way of thinking.

This is just a few of the words we hear, and how they are used, the list could go on and on.

We have had plenty of evidence of the tortures and terror tactics used by Communists, any honest individual can know the truth about their lies if they really want to.

Let's thank God for the freedom and privileges we have as citizens of this great nation and stop taking these things for granted. Millions of enslaved people would give anything, even their lives, for the freedom we enjoy in this land. We don't have to fear a midnight knock, followed by prison, or torture, or death. Listen to the sound of marching feet in other lands, fleeing to freedom. Why are there barbed wire fences, giant walls and guards? It isn't to keep us out.

Let's pray for peace, but not at the expense of more free people becoming enslaved by a way of life they don't want and are willing to die instead of embracing.

May God have mercy on this land of ours and keep us "one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Gilman Supporter

Editor, The Freeman:
I have been asked why I support Mr. Ben Gilman for Congress, a different path than that chosen by the hierarchy of the Conservative Party. The reasons are many. A few are as follows:

Mr. Gilman's prior voting record in the Assembly of New York State has been close to 100 per cent conservative. Mr. Rapkin has no voting record.

Mr. Gilman is an experienced legislator. Mr. Rapkin is not yet.

Mr. Gilman is a veteran of World War II, a member of the V.F.W. and the American Legion. He has an understanding of veterans' problems, not only of WW II Vets, but also the young vets from Vietnam. Mr. Rapkin's record is obscure. As a veteran I can relate to Mr. Gilman.

Mr. Gilman is a family man with children who can understand and sympathize with the problems of raising a family in these trying times. Mr. Rapkin is a bachelor.

As a member of the great middle class struggling to make a living, I can relate to Mr. Gilman who is also a member of the middle class. My understanding is that Mr. Rapkin has much wealth that he can draw from.

As a union working man, I know from experience that Mr. Gilman will "go to bat" for the working man. There is nothing in Mr. Rapkin's background that I know of favorable to the working class.

Mr. Gilman has represented this Assembly District with distinction: the great mass of Conservatives, Republicans and also Democrats that I have spoken to want him to represent them in Congress. Not Mr. Rapkin.

Mr. Gilman is a proven vote getter — a winner. Mr. Rapkin lost when he last ran for political office, despite his being the endorsed candidate.

I urge all registered Republicans to vote for Mr. Ben Gilman in the Republican Primary on June 20.

I have been a Conservative for as long as the Conservative Party has been in existence and, as a matter of fact, was the first Orange County Conservative Chairman. I would do nothing to hurt the Conservative Party. But Mr. Rapkin is not an enrolled Conservative. He is a Republican and never in the past has done anything for the Conservative Party. He now wants to use us as a vehicle to further his own ambitions. I say "No."

I therefore am organizing a group called "Conservatives for Gilman" and am asking all enrolled Conservatives who feel as I do to please get in touch with me.

LEROY BUCK, Chairman

Abortion Law Repeal

Editor, The Freeman:
Our State Legislature has succeeded in dealing a staggering blow to New York State as the leader in progressive social reform. By repealing the abortion law, more families and lives will ultimately be destroyed than under the former law. No one respects the "right to life" of any living man or animal than I, but the abortions will continue, and the lives of those women with limited means will once again be jeopardized by the butcher abortionists.

At this point we can only hope that the Governor will be more far-sighted and less susceptible to the totally unrepresentative pressure of certain groups than was the Legislature, and follow through with his conviction to veto this disaster.

Respectfully,

Boces Plan Is Released

KINGSTON — The Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services has announced the curriculum plan for the Vocational Education Program for the 1972-73 school year.

Michael Aronica, Director of Vocational Education, indicated that thirty courses, for which full high school credit will be received, are planned for next year. This curriculum plan has been authorized through the newly approved five-year Regional Plan for Vocational Education which has been accepted by the New York State Education Department.

The following courses will be available for area high school students at the several BOCES Vocational Centers: Conservation and Landscaping, Auto Mechanics, Small Engine Repair and Service Station Attendant, Gasoline and Diesel Engine Repairs, Building Occupations 10, Carpentry, Home Building Specialties, Masonry, Oil Burner Servicing, Plumbing and Heating, Data Processing, Accounting, Electrical Occupations 10, Electrical Construction, Appliance Servicing, Radio and TV Servicing, Garment Design and Construction, Health and Personal Services, Practical Nursing, Child Care, Home and Institutional Services, Cosmetology, Printing, Drafting and Design, Metal Occupations 10, Welding, Machine Trades.

In addition to these thirty courses, the Vocational Industrial Cooperative Program will provide instruction and training in vocational areas which are not offered as regular classes. Students below tenth grade level who desire exploratory experiences in various curriculum clusters can enroll in the Pre-Vocational Program.

BOCES was able to reduce expenditures as a result of the decrease in enrollment and the per pupil cost will be held at the same level. The gross budget for Vocational Education will be $925,392. State Aid of $477,888 will be received and the net budget will be $449,504 which provides a net cost of $56.19 per pupil.

Port Ewen Troop 26 in New Jersey Hike

Thirteen members of Boy Scout Troop 26 in Port Ewen hiked along the Jockey Hollow Trail in New Jersey recently. Jockey Hollow was the site of the 1779-80 encampment of 10,000 soldiers during the worst winter of the entire Revolutionary War. The Continental built 1,000 log huts and endured bitter cold, shortages of food, clothing, and pay as well as disease and boredom. The trail was established in 1962 by members of Allemakewink Lodge, Order of the Arrow, to provide a scenic hike and an opportunity to experience a physical and spiritual kinship with the American Revolutionary Soldier.

The seventeen-mile trail begins in the town of Peapack-Gladstone, goes through the Schiff Scout Reservation, traverses the Morristown National Historic Park, passes by Fort Nonsense, and terminates at the Ford Mansion, George Washington's headquarters in Morristown. All qualified scouts who complete this long hike and submit a 250-word essay on "What part did Morristown and the Jockey Hollow area play in the American Revolutionary War?" will be awarded the impressive Jockey Hollow Trail Medal and a colorful uniform patch.

The group included Scouts Curt and Michael Bradley, James Chontos, Randy Crego, Michael Donnelly, William Dunn, David Ebel Jr., Ronald Latz Jr., Steven Powers, and Steven Tremper and were led by Scoutmaster Gordon A. Craig Jr., Assistant Scoutmaster Michael P. Reilly, and the transportation arrangements and Mrs. Chontos, committee men David Ebel Sr., and James Powers volunteered to drive their vehicles for the hikers. For Assistant Scoutmaster Reilly and Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Latz, both Eagle Scouts, it was their second time on the trail having hiked it in 1969. Troop 26 is sponsored by the Reformed Church of Port Ewen and meetings are held every Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Scout rooms downstairs.

Area Scout News

Sixth Graders Now Eligible

KINGSTON As soon as boys complete the fifth grade this spring, they can join a Scout troop, according to Richard Rydstrom of the Rip Van Winkle, Boy Scouts of America.

There are 65 Scout troops in Ulster and Greene County area so there should be one near the boy's home, Rydstrom said, or boys or parents can get information from the Scout service center, 110 Prince Street, Kingston.

Rydstrom said that most boys want to join a troop to have fun, activities, and companionship but that the Scouting program — which will introduce some improvements next fall — uses several unique methods to reach its objectives.

"Scouting ideals is one of the principal methods of Scouting," Rydstrom explained, "and the boy is asked to understand and try to live by the Scout Oath and Law. Then, Scouting uses the patrol methods so that a boy learns to relate to others by work in a small group with each troop made up of several patrols.

"In Scout advancement, the boy can see his self-improvement when his accomplishments are recognized, and the program offers a chance for a boy to have outdoor experiences to develop his personal fitness. Scouting also makes extensive use of adult male association so that a boy learns about adult qualities by associating with adults," Rydstrom explained.

"Two other methods of Scouting are leadership development so a boy will understand the role of leadership as he leads and personal growth which helps a boy gain maturity as he plans his own personal growth with guidance," Rydstrom said.

Wendy Plans Detailed

KINGSTON Camp preparations were detailed at the May meeting of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts meeting recently.

Mrs. Harry Cornwell reported that Miss Alice Schneider of Hartsdale will be director of resident Camp Wendy. Mrs. Irene Murdoch will direct Katrina Day Camp; Mrs. Lillian Foster will direct Singing Pines Day Camp, and Mrs. Blanche Ennis will direct a new day camp in the Kerhonkson-Accord-Ellenville area.

The Corps of Engineers are putting six new tent platforms and three new latrines up at Camp Wendy. Other volunteers are building a new fireplace and repairing old ones. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster are working on general clean-up and repairs of the camp. The contract for the Emma F. Bogart Swimming Pool to be constructed during the next two months was signed last week.

Alex Benishake presented the 1973 budget which will be presented to the United Way this week. Girl Scout responsibility toward a successful United Way Campaign and how to fulfill this responsibility by working in the campaign in '72 was discussed.

Mrs. Hubert Richter appointed the following committee chairmen to serve in 1972-73: Mrs. Joan Cronwell, program committee; Mrs. Betty Hoffmann, personnel committee; Mrs. Sally Seaver, public relations committee.

Mrs. Randy Firmbach presented names of neighborhood chairmen for board approval. Neighborhood chairmen to serve in 1972-73 are: Mrs. Nancy Brundage, Woodstock-West; Mrs. Rose Miller, Wallkill; Mrs. Muriel Sashin, Ellenville; Mrs. Carol Silvestri, Milton; Mrs. Dot Fagiolo, New Paltz; Mrs. Margaret Weber, Olivebridge; Mrs. Jean Greeson, Woodstock; Mrs. Jessie Holmes, Saugerties; Mrs. Joan McElrath, Rosendale; Mrs. Ruth Notari, Kingston; Mrs. Grace Warren, Kerhonkson.

Mrs. Richter presented a request from the Association for Retarded Children to use Camp Wendy August 14-18. The request was approved and the group will be sharing Camp Wendy facilities with the Singing Pines Day Camp.

Brownies at Garden Center

SAWKILL Cadette Troop 207 led by Mrs. H. P. Hoffman spent a very active past four months.

In January the Cadettes, assisted by Mrs. Richard Mellert learned decoupage. February found the girls working with Mrs. Richard Van Dwyne's Brownie Troop 144, at which time they planned a program for International Friendship Night, sharing the customs of Mexico, with the Brownies.

In March, the Cadettes participated in the parade, celebrating the 60th Anniversary of Girl Scouting, being the color guard and planning the flag ceremony.

Cadette Susan Nelson was chosen to attend a three-day Cadette Citizenship Conference in Albany, which is one of the wider opportunities offered the scouts on the cadette level by the Girl Scout Council. She attended a budgeting session and had the opportunity to discuss the 18-year-old vote with Assemblyman H. Clark Bell.

During Easter Vacation, several of the Cadettes went on a Heritage Trip to Washington D.C., while a few others went to the Le Folies in Troy.

Last month, also, the girls attended a meeting at the home of Mrs. James Greeson, Neighborhood Chairman for Ulster and Hurley, to get acquainted with Senior Girl Scouting.

Starr Theater Reopening

RHINEBECK [Upstate Films - Ltd. to bring alternative to the slick Disney productions. The theatre is being renovated, with the approval of the Starr Institute Board of Trustees, and out of necessity since a new thoroughfare leading to a parking lot had obliterated the former entranceway. The persons responsible for this program are Steve and DeDe Leiber and Dick and Susan Goldman. Funds are being sought from the New York State Council on the Arts for the non-profit endeavor, with no word received as yet. Admissions will just cover the cost, with plans now calling for $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. And morning showings of short subjects for the 3-8 year olds will be shown, with some live puppet shows and similar fare to be scheduled at approximately 55 cents. Parents will be encouraged to accompany their offspring to the morning and afternoon shows, with a 25 cent admission charge for the parent. The Leibers and Goldmans had been looking for a theatre for some time, and finally arranged through the Starr Institute to sublet the theatre in Rhinebeck from the Pillar-Most Company, which had planned to put in a women's clothing store. The theatre can maintain its non-profit status through the showing of 16 mm. films, as these do not directly compete with those shown in commercial houses. These films are available from independent distributors, thus giving the proprietors more flexibility in scheduling instead of taking whatever the major movie distributors are hawking. While comedy and horror classics will be featured, as well as some musicals, there will be some dramatic features such as The Virginian and Public Enemy. Some of the other titles mentioned by Leiber were Duck Soup (a Marx brothers film and the opening title). She Done Him Wrong with Mae West (to follow) The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari, and Phantom of the Opera with Lon Chaney. A benefit showing of Duck Soup will be held Friday, May 19, with the theatre open to the public the following day.

Banker Rigby Retires

KINGSTON Harry Rigby Jr., after eight years of service, retired as assistant vice president from Bankers Trust Hudson Valley March 31.

Rigby joined the bank as director of Customer Relations in 1964, a new department of the bank designed for the benefit and convenience of present and potential customers. Rigby's responsibilities included new business development, community relations, bank advertising and all promotional and public relations activities.

Prior to his service with the bank, he held the position of vice-president of Kingston Coal Company for over 23 years. During this time he served as president of the Fuel Merchants Chapter of the National Oil Fuel Institute, president of the New York State Fuel Merchants Association, director for the Empire State Petroleum Fuel Merchants Association and chairman of the Eastern States Fuel Conference.

Rigby has been a trustee of Kingston Savings Bank since 1960. He served as president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in 1963 of which he was a co-founder in 1945. He helped organize the Kingston Community Chest and served as a member of its board of directors for 11 years. He has held the position of president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club (1949); chairman of the Board of Trustees for Y.W.C.A.; chairman of the Citizen Committee for an Ulster County Community College (he initiated the movement for the college); Organizing Committee Chairman for the Kingston Area Council of Churches and Director for the Ulster County Home for the Aged.

He has been a member of the Executive Board of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America and he received the Silver Beaver Award "for distinguished service to boyhood."

In 1966, he was honored as recipient of the Kingston Newspaper Guild's annual Page One Award for Civic Achievement.

Born a mid-westerner, he became interested in the Hudson Valley when he moved to Kingston and helped his wife search for the Daughters of the American Revolution member-ship. His interest in the area's history eventually led him to being selected as a member of the Governor's Committee for the Hudson Champlain Celebration in 1958 (under Governor Averell Harriman), vice-chairman of the New York State Commission for Historic Observances (1958-1960), Hudson Valley coordinator for the New York State Civil War Centennial Commission (1961), consultant to Raymond & May Associates, professional city planners for the preservation of significant historical and cultural sites in urban renewal, vice president of the Ulster County Historical Society, vice-president of the Friends of Historic Kingston, editor of the Ulster County Gazette, a historical quarterly, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee for Landmarks Preservation, member of the New York State Historical Association, and in 1962 he was appointed City Historian by Mayor John Schwenk.

He is licensed by the University of the State of New York

HARRY RIGBY JR.

Perhaps the biggest honor attributed to Rigby's participation in the history of his city and state came when a gold medal, bestowed by Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, was presented to him in 1960 after Queen Juliana's visit to Kingston. He was named officer of the Order of Orange-Nassau. This Dutch national tribute was awarded him for work in the field of international relations.

Rigby attended Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.

He resides at 56 Plymouth Avenue, Kingston, with his wife, Charlotte.

A dinner was held in his honor April 4, at the Beckman Arms in Rhinebeck.

Woodstock Area News

Spring Display Slated

WOODSTOCK

The second annual Spring Antique Festival, to be held May 27 on the Woodstock Playhouse grounds, is planned as a benefit for local charities. The Woodstock Historical Society, the Kings Daughters of the Shady Methodist Church, and the Woodstock Youth Center will be the beneficiaries of the festival and will participate in it.

The Historical Society will again display its informative collection of photographs and artifacts from Woodstock's past. Everyone who attends is urged to stop by the display and learn about Woodstock in "the good-old days."

The last year's festival was so successful that space is being expanded to accommodate 40 dealers who will come from Connecticut, New Jersey and from throughout the Hudson Valley to offer their collections for display and sale. The expanded 1972 show may make it possible for the neophyte or advanced collector to find whatever he desires in the antique field. The selections will be broad and varied making the show a standout in the antique field.

For information call Don or Carole Rhoades in Woodstock.

Cleanup Going Strong

WOODSTOCK

Town of Woodstock's Operation Trashlift for 1972 rolled through a second week with a successful cleanup of roads in Zena, and is gaining momentum for its climax May 20-21, the weekend of the Lions Club recycling collection.

Under the direction of Area Chairman Frank Barbone, enthusiastic Zena volunteers removed enough bottles, cans and trash from roadsides to fill a seven-cubic-yard dump truck donated by Joseph Naccarato & Sons.

Meanwhile Woodstock Town Chairman Jules Vigiellmo said that Operation Trashlift was investigating the possibility of collecting and crushing junked cars, refrigerators and other major appliances. He and his committee are also working on a plan to clear streams of junk. In either case, the work would be done after the close of Operation Trashlift on May 21.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., IBM, he announced, will planning to establish four data security study centers — three in the next five years in the study of data security techniques. The company, he said, is penetration, levels of conditions.

IBM Chairman T. Vincent Learson, keynote speaker at the Spring Joint Computer Conference here Tuesday, said that the need for better data security in computer systems is becoming a paramount one and must be met if the full benefit of computers is to be realized.

"In the management of a society as big and complex as ours, there is need for greater and reater quantities of information that will help us control what we are doing and know better where we are going," Learson said. "But there is the fear that computers also make it possible for large organizations and for government in particular — to know too much about us."

"Public policy must decide who is to have access to what information," Learson said. "But the question of how to limit information access only to those who are authorized to have it begins with the manufacturer of systems."

County Man Hits It Rich ... Twice

A Port Ewen man has struck it rich twice in the past month; first he became the father of a baby boy four weeks ago, and then last Thursday when he won $5,000 in New York State's weekly 50 cent Lottery.

Anthony DeCicco of Everson Lane, an employee of Kingston Trust Co., bought his winning ticket the week before at Abrams Music Store on Wall Street.

DeCicco said he doesn't envision any difficulty putting the money to good use.

He was the only major Lottery winner last week in Ulster, Dutchess and Orange Counties. Several $50 winners were reported in the area.

Survey Results Shown

By TIM SCHUSTER

TIVOLI
It might be to your advantage to wear your oldest clothes the next time you fill a prescription at a pharmacy because, according to some surprising results of an undercover survey completed this month, many pharmacists will size you up and "charge what the traffic will bear."
That quote comes from Dr. Eberhard E. Scheuing, Associate Professor of Marketing at St. John's University in New York, who moved into a home on West Kerley Corners Road in Tivoli this past January.

Dr. Scheuing should know. He served as faculty director to a special group of students known as "Mackell's Marauders" in Queens this spring for District Attorney Thomas J. Mackell as part of a continuing program to use student researchers to study consumer frauds and unethical sales practices in Queens County.
This survey found that pharmacists are charging prices ranging from $2.25 to $7.75 for the exact same prescription and the prices are usually higher in low-income areas than in middle-income areas.
The results showed that, in covering 68 pharmacies over a period of months, prices for prescription drugs are set in an arbitrary and inconsistent manner.

Pharmacies do not apply standardized markups and the price a consumer pays for a prescription drug sometimes depends on which pharmacist happens to be on duty in a drug store at a specific time.
The "Marauders" reported that the failure to advertise or post prescription prices represents a definite disadvantage to the consumer.
"Prescription drugs are necessities, not luxuries," they pointed out. "A sick person does not have a choice as to whether or not to purchase medication prescribed by his physician."

And, "almost 75 per cent of the households we interviewed have never priced a prescription at several pharmacies and more than 80 per cent have most of their prescriptions filled in one pharmacy. In contrast to cars or food items, consumers have little or no idea what a fair price for a given prescription would be."
Dr. Scheuing, in speaking to The Freeman, noted that the problem is not indigenous to Queens. He noted that he had priced a prescription at three pharmacies in Red Hook and Rhinebeck over the weekend, coming up with a $3 discrepancy between the highest and lowest amount.

Because the problem is nationwide, he said, there will be a followup by St. John's students to get more details and legislators will be called to a conference in the early fall to apprise them of the situation.
These will include legislators on the local (Queens), state, and national level. A letter from Congressman Benjamin Rosenthal to DA Mackell was received congratulating him for this piece of research, and Rosenthal said he had introduced legislation relating to the pricing of drugs.

The "Marauders" recommended legislation that would require reasonable price ranges for prescription drugs to be set by an independent commission and approved by an appropriate government agency.
They also recommended that the majority of prescription drugs be pre-packaged by the manufacturer in commonly prescribed quantities, and be accompanied by detailed product information and instructions on when and how to use the medicine.
Under the present system, the pharmacist usually removes the original label from the manufacturer's package, replacing it with his own label, or he transfers the prescribed number of units from a large container to a small container with his own label.

Dr. Scheuing "wanted a larger piece of property" and thus moved to the Tivoli area where he makes a hobby of raising Basenjis, a small African dog that cannot bark, and along with German Shepherds and Great Danes.
And he found the same practices by pharmacists as had been encountered in Queens. "Sometimes, if you are a new face, the pharmacist will give you a good rate because he wants you for a steady customer," he asserted.

LaLeche Begins New Series Here

Kingston La Leche League will begin a new series of its four cyclicly repeating discussion groups on Tuesday, May 23 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gail Bernard, 158 Millers Lane, Kingston. Mrs. Ruth Scogna, one of the two officially recognized La Leche League Group Leaders for Kingston, will lead an informal discussion on "The Advantages of Breastfeeding for Mother and Baby" which will cover the often heard emotional advantages as well as the less recognized physical and practical advantages.

Mrs. Gordon Usticke, the other League Leader, invites any interested woman to come and either share her breastfeeding experiences with new and prospective mothers or listen and learn from the nursing experiences of other women. Kingston La Leche League is but one of more than 1000 groups all over the world using this informal "mother-to-mother" technique established 15 years ago by La Leche League International.

The topics and dates for the remaining three discussions are: "The Art of Breastfeeding: Overcoming Difficulties," June 27; "The Baby Arrives: The Family and the Breastfed Baby," July 18, like the May meeting, this is one week earlier than the usual last Tuesday of the month; and "Nutrition: Weaning," August 29, to be held at the home of Mrs. Joann Haber, 20 Janet Street, Kingston.

Mrs. Usticke and Mrs. Scogna are available for telephone counselling on non-medical aspects of breastfeeding. The material for the meetings themselves is taken from The Womanly Art of

Breastfeeding, the official

League manual. La Leche League will participate in the annual Flea Market held by the Kingston Plaza Merchants Association on June 3. Anyone wishing to donate used items for sale by Kingston La Leche League should contact either Carol McElrath or Serena Stockwell.

HVP Announces 1972-73 Campaign

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic announces its 1972-73 Subscription Series. The emphasis this season will be on total quality performances and will include ballet, opera, oratorio and concerti. The opening concert features Ann Lynn Miller playing Beethoven's First Piano Concerto, and the orchestral version of "Le Sacre du Printemps."

Eglevsky Ballet Company is returning, this time to perform the delightful folk ballet, "Coppelia." Matthew Raizondi, violinist in residence at Vassar College, will be featured in November's concert, as will Claude Montoux who will play the flute. Also on the program are Kenneth Fricker, contrabass, and Sylvia Suzowsky, harp.

The Community Mixed Chorus will complete the fall series with "Noneggers," "Le Roi David," in English, with the Philharmonic; Rabbi Erwin Zimet will narrate. The Spring Series will open with cellist, Steven Doane, winner of the Young Artists Competition, in a program of Russian music. Mieczyslaw Herszowski, pianist, will be featured in a concert of Austrian music. The Metropolitan Opera Company, a favorite with Philharmonic subscribers, will do Puccini's "La Boheme" with the Philharmonic, and the season will close with Hiroka Yajima, winner of the 1967 Young Artists Competition, and Luis Garcia-Renart, cellist with the Philharmonic, in an evening of Brahms. This year there will be an innovation, encore requests. At some of the concerts, a ballot will be distributed from which favorite requests may be selected. The most popular selection will be performed by the orchestra immediately after the evening's program. Further information concerning the series and subscriptions may be obtained by contacting the Philharmonic Office, 54 Noxon Street, Poughkeepsie, or by writing in care of HVP, Box 1, Uptown P.O., Kingston.

GI May Try Honesty in the Future

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I'm not very good at writing letters, so I make tapes to send to members of my family. (I am overseas in the service.)

I made two the other evening. One for my wife and one for my mother. I put them in the wrong envelopes and my mother got the tape I made for my wife, and my wife got the one I made for my mother.

I told my wife that when I come home next month I would rather that we just be alone, and I would try to get out of having my mother come to visit us. (My wife and my mother don't hit it off very well.)

In my tape to my mother I said I hoped she could come and visit us when I get home! Well, my wife wrote and told me she got the tape I made for my mother, so obviously my mother got the tape I made for my wife.

Now what do I do?
WORRIES IN NAM
DEAR WORRIED: Take your lumps like a man. And if things get too hot stateside, you can always re-enlist!

DEAR ABBY: Every time I read a letter in your column from a mother who has practically become unglued because of a shocking letter she has "accidentally come across" while cleaning her child's desk drawers, I am reminded of some of the letters I used to write when I was a teen-ager.

I used to dream up the most fantastic tales to make my out-of-town friends think I was popular and wild. I realize now that some of the stories my correspondents wrote to me must have been equally fictitious.

I'm lucky my mother never snooped in my stationery box or she surely would have had a heart attack—for nothing!

OVER FIFTY
DEAR OVER: Your letter should be included with the literature put out by the HEART ASSOCIATION.

DEAR ABBY: There is a blind man who sells newspapers downtown. He has a seeing eye dog, but

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

yesterday I noticed that he was hesitant to cross the street so I gently touched his elbow and said, "I'll tell you when you have the green light."

He thanked me warmly and said, "I wish more people were educated to let me know when the 'go' light is on. If I get started all right, I'm okay, but last year I was struck by a car."

I suppose because a blind person has a seeing eye dog with him, everyone assumes he needs no help in crossing streets. They don't realize that ALL dogs are color blind, and cannot read traffic signals.

I didn't know this until recently. If you will pass it on, Abby, you will help many blind people.

Keep Stove Clean

Keep the area around the stove's pilot light clean and free of foreign matter.

Fabric Softener

Adding fabric softener to laundry will add softness and fluffiness to all washable fabrics.

Turn off Burners

Make sure the stove's burners are off—completely off—when not in use. This goes for broilers and ovens, too. Get into the habit of checking before you leave the kitchen or house.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE
THIS'LL KEEP YOU IN STITCHES

Dear Heloise: Here's a hint that I would like to pass on about knitting and crocheting.

I always have a lot of left-over yarn so I usually tie the odds and ends together and roll it all up into a ball.

I use this to make a really beautiful granny afghan. Just continue making it into one big square afghan. The colors are beautiful and so is the finished afghan.

This way you don't have to sew or crochet the squares together. It's all in one.

Mrs. Dorothy Goscenski

Dear Heloise: When I read about your "Salmonettes Heloise" in the paper, I just had to try them!

After I had opened my can of salmon and added the egg, I discovered to my dismay that I had no flour, pancake flour or even biscuit mix.

But I did have some yellow corn meal, so I substituted that for the flour.

And, Heloise, they were delicious!

I'm anxious to try them with flour, but just thought you might like to know about my substitute.

Do try it!

Louise Craig

Dear Heloise:

A young friend with five small children has discovered an ingenious way to keep them occupied.

Each child is furnished with a good, ordinary house-paint brush and a pail of clean water and allowed to "paint" pictures on the sidewalk, front veranda, basement floor or a large slate blackboard.

She has saved herself time, effort and expense. The most she has to clean up is water and the children are exhibiting amazing artistic talent.

L.M.C.

This mother of five knows how to use her noggin'...

No hard-to-clean mess and everyone has fun.

Really great!

Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

When I read about you and the lady having days when everything seemed to go wrong, my mind went back to the time when I kept a darling little 3-year-old girl while her mother was in the hospital.

One day when she got up from her nap, her little pants were quite wet.

I said, "Why, honey, I thought you were a big girl now and didn't wet your pants."

She said, "I get days like this, but I won't do it any more." And she didn't, either! Now when my husband or I have a bad day and everything goes wrong, we say, "Like J —, we get days like this."

I do enjoy your hints, Heloise, and feel like you are a very dear friend of mine. May God bless you.

Gladys Thomas

Dear Heloise:

I made one of those wash cloth rings out of a yellow plastic coffee can lid by cutting the center out of the lid and using only the rim.

My husband attached this little plastic ring with a small screw to the outside end of our baby's crib.

How handy it is at "wipe-up" time!

Six students will be presenting readings: Ginger Bernstein and Pat Byer will interpret short stories by Dorothy Parker; a reading of the poem "Africa" will be given by Janet Denison; Winnie the Pooh will be performed by Cheryl Metzger and a section of The Little Prince by Debbie Moscovitz; Daisy Oliver will present a reading based on Tent City. These students have received training in the Oral Interpretation class where they learned the use of special techniques to emphasize the

All of Ontario's 1500 students will see a preview of the presentation throughout the week with their English classes. According to Mr. Wessmann this should serve as a more thorough preparation for the participating students, and give the rest of student body an opportunity to see the scheduled presentation. Two of the readings, Winnie the Pooh by Cheryl Metzger and The Little Prince by Debbie Moscovitz, will be presented to the Bennett Elementary School kindergarten and first grade.

On Friday, May 5, the group participated in an Oral Interpretation Festival at Oneonta. Nine schools took part in the presentation of passages, and each student was rated on his ability. Mr. Wessmann reported that all of Ontario's students did exceptionally well with special praise going to Janet Denison. The director of the Festival was quoted as saying, "Of course, you realize your people are out of our league entirely."

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Perhaps this letter will help others of you who may be honored at a birthday or anniversary in the coming year.

Dear Mrs. Post:

I will be having a birthday in May — my eighty-seventh one. My friends are planning a party for me and a luncheon to follow. I would like to have a few nice words to say.

Thank you for any help you can give me.

Mrs. Lee

Dear Mrs. Lee:

Congratulations to you on your eighty-seventh birthday! I would suggest that you say something like this: "I want you all to know how much I appreciate your being with me today. With each passing year, I realize more fully what a wonderful thing friendship is, and to be surrounded by friends and honored by them on this occasion surely makes it one of the most memorable days of my life. I especially want to thank those of you (or Joan or Helen) who planned the party, but I want to wish every one of you as happy a birthday — whenever it comes — as I am having!"

Dear Mrs. Post:

We have received an invitation to a cocktail party announcing the engagement of a young couple. This party is to be held from two to four in the afternoon at the home of the girl.

We were wondering if we were expected to bring a gift, and if so, should it be one for their new home or a personal gift?

Jennifer

Walking Tours To Start

KINGSTON
The annual Walking Tours of the Historic Stockade area of Kingston will resume on Thursday when at 2 p.m. the first guided walking tour of the 1972 season will step out from the traditional starting point at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

One of the effective tours of Historic Kingston, the walking tour makes guided visits to the Old Dutch Church, the DAR-Sleight House, the Senate House, terminating at the nearby Senate House Museum. Along the route, numerous buildings of historic and architectural significance will be pointed out and related to the legends and events of the stockade area.

Kingston is distinguished as one of the two cities in New York with stockade areas, further dramatized last year by the discovery of post holes relating to the old stockade. In addition, the stockade area represents the major portion of Kingston put to the torch by British Forces in October 1777. Tour guests will see remarkable stone houses whose thirty-to-fifty-inch thick walls could not be destroyed by the British fire, and which are serving today their third century as private residences or business sites.

The Walking Tours of the Kingston Stockade area are scheduled the third Thursday of the summer months, and are coordinated by Mrs. Allan L. Hanstein at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Mrs. Thomas Reynolds directs and trains the guides who escort walking tour guests through the stockade area. Members of the Old Dutch Church, the DAR and museum staff welcome tour guests at their sites. The Friends of Historic Kingston provides historic and public information concerning the Stockade Walking Tours.

Guard Units To Duty

KINGSTON
Army National Guard units of the 1st FA Bn 156 Field Artillery will depart for their annual two weeks of active duty at Camp Drum, Saturday morning.

The batteries, Headquarters battery and Service battery of Kingston, A of Poughkeepsie, and B and C of Newburgh, will leave via motor convoy at approximately 7 a.m. and travel upstate on the New York State Thruway and other state highways to the military reservation just outside of the city of Watertown.

Upon arriving at Camp Drum, the battalion's batteries will move directly to the field where they will assemble bivouac sites, their homes for the next several days.

All training will be conducted in the field during this period. Batteries A, B, and C will work with the M109 self propelled howitzers, receiving support from Headquarters and Service batteries.

On Thursday of the first week at camp, the units will disassemble the bivouac sites and move on-base billets (barracks). The next phase of training will include maintenance of all equipment.

The second week of the tour is expected to be a repeat of the first.

The active training period ends on Friday, June 2, with a return trip to home base tentatively scheduled for midday on that date and arrival just after midnight on Saturday, June 3.

Lt. Col. Karl C. Verbeck is the commanding officer of the 156. Battery commanders are: Headquarters, Cpt. Donald Wolf; Service, Cpt. John Whitaker; A, Cpt. Daniel Gagnon; B, Cpt. William Ose; and C, Cpt. David Tanis.

Olympic Day

Olympic Day will be held Saturday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Anna Devine School, Rifton. Competitive races for the whole family, booths and luncheon will be featured. Proceeds of the event sponsored by the Parents Auxiliary will be used for playground equipment at the new school.

Sable Discusses Problems, Scores Lindsay Remark

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — "There were a few more things I would have liked to have said," Jack M. Sable, New York State Commissioner on Human Rights, remarked to Len Cane, executive vice president of the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce, following Sable's breakfast address to the Chamber, "but I saw it was heading for nine o'clock and I had to cut it short."

"You should have taken the time," Cane replied, "I didn't see anybody sneaking for the door."

Sable's speech received a standing ovation from some 40 Chamber members and their guests at the Gov. Clinton Hotel Tuesday morning. He had a speech prepared for a "New Social Contract for Our Community" but hardly touched it, instead, he talked about the problems of American society in the wake of the shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in Maryland on Monday afternoon.

Sable said he was "deeply moved by what happened yesterday," but did not agree with Mayor John Lindsay's assessment that violence is "really part and parcel of the fabric of American Democracy." "I challenge that," Sable said. "I do not agree with Gov. Wallace on many things but a man has the right to speak out, to say what he wants to say, to do his thing without fear that someone will cut him down."

Sable spoke of the experiments in mankind and contended that the most successful has been the democratic experiment that which sets forth the unalienable rights of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Sable dwelled on the problems of the inner cities, areas which he termed were the strength of the nation. "If the urban centers collapse," he said, "it would be a tragedy. It is a problem we must all face."

Sable stated that it was not only the large metropolitan areas that were in danger of collapse but that the rural areas, such as Kingston, were faced with similar crisis.

It is Sable's theory that the migration from the rural areas to the inner cities must be reversed and the best way to do that is through a process of "restructured communities."

"There are hundreds of communities like Kingston," Sable, a native of Kingston said. "Kingston has a heart and a soul. It gave me strength and a sense of tradition, a reference point. It is one of the greatest cities in the United States."

The federal government, Sable said, seems to be more interested in building brand new cities and communities rather than rehabilitating old ones, such as Kingston. "Why not take small communities and rebuild and revitalize them?" he asked.

Later, at a press conference, Sable pressed the idea with the Rev. John H. Gilmore, director of the Kingston Human Rights Commission, the Rev. Edward J. Farrelly, former director and Herbert Shults, current director.

"One of the weaknesses of our society," Sable told them, "is that we throw things away. We throw away old communities."

Sable suggested that city officials "check into the restructured city concept." "HUD (The Department of Housing and Urban Development) has hundreds of millions of dollars for new ideas," he said. "They have a department of Planned Urban Development (PUD). I'm pretty sure they'd buy it if the city government could come up with something creative and innovative."

Sable even offered to introduce city officials to Sam Jackson, head of PUD. "I'm pretty sure they'd at least give you planning money."

Mayor Francis R. Koenig has been questioned along those lines in the past, especially in regards to Broadway West, across the street from the current downtown urban renewal project. His position has been one of interest in some future project with emphasis on completing the city's two urban renewals projects before anything new is undertaken.

Prior to Sable's speech to the Chamber, Radio Station WGHQ was honored by the Freedoms Foundation for its programs on narcotic abuse, Harry Karpel and Harry Re, president and vice president of Charles Ramsey Corp. of Kingston, sponsors of the program, were also given plaques by C. James Proud, vice president of Freedoms Foundation.

Perennial Homes Tour...

KINGSTON — The Kingston Human Rights Commission has been wrestling with the problem of Perennial Homes on Maple Street in Broadway East for the past four months with only limited success.

So it was only natural that when Jack M. Sable, a native Kingstonian and the state's highest human rights official, came home for a speech before the Chamber of Commerce, his aid would be enlisted.

The situation is critical for the owners of the five homes in the seven-home project. (Two of the homes are unsold). They are faced with foreclosure on their mortgages due to an increase in payments which they say they cannot afford. In the case of Charles Carlton of 21 Maple Street, those payments increased from $86 a month in 1971 to $124 a month this year. An increase in assessments is the prime cause.

The mortgages are held by Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association and are insured by the FHA. Federal rent subsidies are also provided to the tenants.

Finances are only one aspect of the problem. The condition of the buildings, less than a year old is the other, more obvious thing. Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. toured the buildings on April 16 and came away with an impression of "shoddy work" and a pledge to contact the FHA "to stay on top" of the situation, "to follow it up."

To date, there has been no word from the congressman's office, despite repeated inquiries.

"We're having a great deal of difficulty getting through to people," the Rev. John H. Gilmore, director of the Kingston Human Relations Commission, told The Freeman. "I've made numerous calls to FHA. They haven't answered them."

But now, Gilmore has an ally. Jack Sable, commissioner of Human Rights for the State of New York. Sable is not only the highest official in the state in the field of human relations, he is also born and raised in Kingston, extremely proud of that fact, and obviously interested in the city's welfare.

Sable toured the Perennial Homes project with the Rev. Mr. Gilmore, the Rev. Edward J. Farrelly, former Kingston Human Relations chairman and the current chairman, Herbert Shults, following his Tuesday breakfast address before the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce.

Sable did not offer an opinion on the quality of construction, although as a former official with the federal Model Cities program, he says he "knows something about construction." What he did suggest is that the Kingston Human Relations Commission draft a formal letter to him, outlining the problem.

He suggested that the Kingston commission could address itself to such questions such as why a certificate of occupancy was issued in the light of obvious building code violations such as a bathroom air vent emptying into an adjoining bedroom, and the question of why FHA turned the building over to the mortgagee.

Sable said the commission's letter would clear the way for him to make inquiries on the situation in Washington and Albany. Carlton, who has seen a host of "officials" tour through his home in the past four months, seemed skeptical. He says he "just wants to get out with a clean credit rating." "But I wouldn't want this to happen to anyone else," he said. "There should be an investigation, we should find out what really happened here so it doesn't happen again."

"We're going to try to help you," Sable told Carlton as he was leaving. "I'm known as a man of my word," Sable added. "And I'm telling you, we're going to try to help you."

What's Wrong With Seaver?

NEW YORK (AP) — What's Tom Seaver doesn't know. "I can't explain it," the New York Mets right-hander said Tuesday night after he was knocked out of a game for the fourth straight time. "But thank heavens for a bullpen."

Despite departing in a rocky sixth inning, Seaver picked up his sixth victory of the season with relief help from Chuck Taylor as the Mets beat the Montreal Expos 7-3.

The fancy 6-1 record didn't case Seaver's worried mind, though. I ran well and prepared

He was too con- myself for tonight's assign- Tuesday night was his control. He struggled from the start, couldn't hold a 5-1 lead and wound up issuing three straight walks, two of which forced in runs in that rugged sixth. In six previous starts, he gave up a total of just nine walks.

"I don't believe I've ever been that wild," said Seaver. "I didn't feel as I was aiming the ball. I tried to hold the ball differently, but it didn't help. I just got into a bad groove and I couldn't get out of it."

Shortstop Bud Harrelson, who tried to calm down the Mets' ace, said he didn't know exactly what to say to Seaver.

"I've never been confronted by a situation like that before," said Harrelson, who delivered a two-run single in a four-run second. "I've never seen Seaver that wild."

Taylor, who squirmed out of a one-out, bases-loaded situation after Seaver headed for the showers, said he didn't expect to be in the game at all.

"If it would have been a typical Seaver game, I wouldn't have seen any action tonight," said Taylor. "I expected Seaver to go a strong eight or nine innings. If he goes eight, then we bring in Tug McGraw for the last inning."

Manager Yogi Berra couldn't believe the whole thing, either. "I don't ever remember Seaver pitching like that," said Berra. "He threw 96 pitches."

Most of them balls, he might have added.

It Was Monday in Philly

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

It may have been Tuesday everywhere else but it was Monday in Philadelphia.

"Everybody has his day and this one was mine," said Rick Monday after he crashed home runs in his first three at-bats and drove in five runs Tuesday night as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-1.

"It's taken me six years to have a night like this," the former Arizona State bonus star said. "It's something no athlete can explain. Usually I'm a slow starter, a horrendous starter, in fact."

Monday's hitting heroics backed the three-hit pitching of Burt Hooton, who pitched a no-hitter against the Pirates on April 16. Greg Luzinski's 500-foot home run in the fourth inning, his sixth of the season, accounted for the lone Philadelphia run.

The loss dropped the second-place Phils four games behind New York, which beat Montreal, 7-3, in the National League Eastern Division race. In other NL games, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis, 4-3, Houston nipped Atlanta, 6-5, Cincinnati swept San Francisco, 4-3 and 2-0, and Los Angeles shut out San Diego, 2-0.

Richie Hebner's three-run homer in the first inning helped the Pirates defeat the Cardinals.

and move over the .500 mark Tommy Helms, drove in Bob produced the doubleheader for the first time since April 26. Watson, who had tripled in the sweep.

Duke Sims doubled home one of the last nine games for the Pirates and the loss pushed the second as third baseman Jim home the other as the Dodgers Cards deeper into last place in Hart bobbled a ground ball for the NL East.

Utility infielder Bobby Fenwick doubled in the winning run Francisco, Pete Rose's two-run and Bill Buckner had four hits in the eighth inning to lead the single in the fifth inning of the as the Dodgers maintained a Astors over the Braves. Fen-second game and the three-hit one game lead over Houston in wick, playing for the injured pitching of Jack Billingham the NL West.

Sam's Magic Intact

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

Whenever he travels as a pitching coach, a special cult of believers follows in step to the teaching of Johnny Sain.

From the New York Yankees, to the Minnesota Twins and then to the Detroit Tigers, Sain has created a devout following of pitchers who credit him with making them successful, in his 10 years as coach.

Whatever the magic, it appears to be working again with the Chicago White Sox, where Sain is starting his second season. Chicago's pitchers have a combined earned run average of 2.64 so far this year.

The improved pitching has had its natural effect on the team as a whole, and the White Sox closed to within a game and a half of first-place Minnesota in the American League West by edging the Twins, 2-1, Tuesday night for their sixth consecutive victory.

Hittless Ball

Terry Forster pitched hittless ball during his one and two-third innings of relief to gain his fourth save, and he was quick to give credit to his pitching coach.

"I can't say enough about Johnny Sain, he's the greatest," said the big, 20-year-old left-hander, who had only a 2-3 record as a relief specialist in 1971. "He never tells you what to do. He shows you and gives you an idea."

The Baltimore Orioles closed to within a game and a half of first place Cleveland in the East by beating the Detroit Tigers, 6-3, while the Indians knocked off Detroit for the second straight night. Doyle Alexander, relieving Mike Cuellar with one out in the first beat the Texas Rangers, 5-0, inning and with two runs across the Boston Red Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 5-1, in 10 innings and the California Angels beat the Oakland A's, 4-2.

Bobby Murcer triggered a three-run fifth inning with his first hit in 23 at-bats as the Yankees beat Cleveland, Mike Kekich, with eighth-inning relief help from Sparky Lyle, boosted his record to 3-2.

THE CONTESTANTS — Challenger Ron Stander stands in the doorway of the ramshackle "gym" after an afternoon workout in Omaha for his Thursday night fight with champion Joe Frazier (R). Frazier, walking in the gym where he is working out, opened the Omaha phase of his training for the title fight. (UPI)

Frazier—'Beautiful'

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Joe Frazier came to Ron Stander County Tuesday and despite the 55 degree change in temperatures from his Philadelphia home, had a "beautiful" workout. "It was just beautiful," said Frazier's manager Yancey Durham after the boxing champion worked out for about six hours at the Creighton University gym in 85 degree temperatures.

Frazier is slated to clash with Ron Stander of Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 25th in the first heavyweight title fight held in Nebraska's history.

While Frazier sweated it out in the stuffy Creighton gym, Stander, known as the "Bluffs Butcher," continued his workouts in the bowery type atmosphere in his "gym" beneath the Forhole Tavern on the edge of Omaha's downtown business district.

Stander, 27, contends he is in the best shape of his life, and, at 214 pounds, is minus the sizeable bulge on his waistline which, at one time, was a considerable topic of friction between the then 240 pounder and his manager, Dick Nolan.

Durham said he wasn't planning anything special for the champion's title defense. "Conditioning is the main area we're working on right now," said Durham after the workout. "He's going to run in the morning, come back and have breakfast, take a nap, go to another walk and then go to the gym in the afternoon."

Durham said Frazier's weight is "between 216 and 217 pounds," and he won't insist the champion go on a crash diet such as Stander has experienced.

"I want Joe to fight at the weight he feels good at, and that's it," Durham said. Stander contends he has a 50-50 chance against the towering champion.

"I'm gonna come out and fight my fight," Stander said. "I'm not too good on defense. I know I'm going to get hit so I'll take 'em all to get mine in."

Durham concedes Stander "won't be a pushover. But I don't anticipate any upset."

Pine Bush Shaky Favorite in UCAL Track

NEW PALTZ Coach John Shaughnessey's team is undefeated with one tie in this season's dual meets, the feeling around the league is that this is the year the Bushmen fall.

The meet begins Friday at 3 p.m. on the New Paltz State layout with the finals in the long jump and shot. Remaining action on opening day will be centered around time trials in the dashes and hurdles.

All other finals will be run at New Paltz beginning at 1 p.m. After the conclusion of the meet UCAL president John Stefano will present awards to the winners.

The two-day format is a league first and "as settled upon after the loop expanded to 11 teams this season.

Pine Bush has had a piece of the title every year since 1968 when it tied Onteora. But Walkkill, Red Hook, and Marlboro each have enough firepower to present a rather stiff challenge to the Bushmen.

The overall league champion will be decided on a point basis with one point for each dual meet win and one for each team a squad beats at the New Paltz competition.

Thus a team with seven dual meet wins which comes in first Friday and Saturday will be granted 10 more points, a total of 17 in all.

Onteora's Eli Ashley has been installed as the early line favorite in the 100 yard dash off of his undefeated dual meet season. But plenty of competition can be expected from the likes of Marc Weber of Colemans, Highland's John Barrington, Tom Elson of Rondout Valley, and Milton Herring of Marlboro.

Ed Williamson of Walkkill looks good in the shot put and Pine Bush's Ken Papini, already with a 12'5" vault to his credit, is No. 1 pole vault contender.

The discuss figures to be a race between Herm Pinque of Ellenville and Mike Morfello of Marlboro. Ed Rehn of Pine Bush, who earlier this season recorded a 5'9" high jump, is the probable winner in that event.

Papini, defending champ in the triple jump, will get a severe challenge from Barrington who notched a 42'8" leap earlier this season.

The hurdles should provide several interesting sidelights. Highland's Paul Canino looks extremely tough, but he'll have to get by last year's winner George Salinovich of Marlboro, as well as Bob Rutigliano of Walkkill and the New Paltz tandem of Charlie Johnson and Mike Clinton.

Salinovich also will attempt to repeat in the long jump but Highland's Ralph Perry and Rondout's Dave Nelson will try to do something about that.

The 440 is wide open. Among the best are: Perry, Ray Gonzalez of Walkkill, Dave Renkert of Red Hook, Joe McDermott of New Paltz, Ira Hill of Ellenville, Wally Krecidlo of Pine Bush, Bucky Sutter of New Paltz, John Neilson of Marlboro, Rick Lopez of Walkkill, and John Shay of Onteora. Krecidlo is the defending champ.

Neilson won last year's one mile event over Pine Bush's George Shurter in somewhat of an upset. Shurter is favored again this time with Lopez of Walkkill and Don Germain of Red Hook given an outside shot at best.

In the two mile, Shurter, Phil Hand of Red Hook, and Don Angst of Marlboro are the pick of the lot.

The pole vault record seems likely to be shattered by Papini but other marks are not expected to fall.

Coleman, Red Hook UCAL Track Winners

KINGSTON With a 71.65 victory over Ellenville Tuesday, Coleman's track team ended the regular season on a winning note and will go into the weekend's UCAL meet with a 3-7 record.

In Walkkill, hurdler Bob Rutigliano set a new school record in the 120 high with a 15.75 time and led the Panthers past New Paltz 89-47. Red Hook stopped Highland 83-53 behind strong showing in the distance events, and Pine Bush overpowered Liberty 101-35.

Mark Weber, with wins in the 100 and 220 dashes, paced the winners in a close one at Hurley Avenue. The Statesmen gave away first place in every field event, two of them to Herman Pinque and two to Norm Zelinski, but finished strongly in the running events to take the win. A sweep in the 100 and a mile relay victory aided the cause.

Though Rutigliano was flying, Charlie Johnson of New Paltz caught him in the 180 low hurdles and posted a 21.2 winning time. It was the only surprise the Hugies could muster.

Ray Gonzales completed his undefeated season for Walkkill with a 52.8 440 time and looms as the definite favorite in that event in the league meet.

John Barrington and Paul Canino won their usual pair each for the Big Blue, but the Raider distance men, led by Phil Hand, kept the visitors at bay. Hand turned 10:06 in the two mile event, John Germain ran a 4:44.3 mile, and the Raider relay team clocked 3:40 10 1/2.

In some individual duels, Phil Benkart nipped Highland's Ralph Perry in the 440 with 53.5 and Steve Gemmel topped Highland's Harold Countryman in the shot with a heave of 43 10 1/2.

The Bushmen wrapped up their season on top of the UCAL at 9-0-1. Taking firsts in all but four events and sweeping four more completely, Pine Bush annihilated their hosts. George Shurter and Ken Papini achieved double wins for the victors.

Two-Mile Record For John Cabell

A record-breaking performance by Kingston High's John Cabell shattered a two-mile time that had stood for nine years, and the fleet sophomore added another first in the mile to pace the Maroon thinclads to an 80-61 victory over Saugerties here Tuesday.

Cabell had already notched his victory in the mile when he stepped to the start of the two-mile event. Just 9:55.5 later, Cabell hit the tape to best by a tenth of a second a mark set by Dave Ennis in 1963.

The meet was a double-dual affair with Lourdes providing the rest of the competition. Kingston took two wins, and the Warriors needed a win in the final event, the mile relay, to earn a split for the day. They turned it in 3:44.2 to nip the Sawyers 75-66.

Rich Franchini of Saugerties was the only other double winner in the KHS-SHS bout. Franchini clocked 10.9 to take the 100 yard dash and won the 220 with a time of 24 flat.

Kingston's 880 relay team kept its unbeaten season intact.

School Busing Provision ...Compromise Agreed On

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees agreed today on a compromise school busing provision that would delay for 18 months court desegregation orders requiring busing.

The compromise, reached near the end of an all-night bargaining session, cleared the way for final agreement by the conferees on a $20-billion higher education bill.

The bill would provide a wide variety of aid for college students and the institutions they attend and also establish a national institute of education to foster research on the learning process, and authorize $1.5 billion to help schools desegregate.

In reaching agreement, however, the conferees softened three tough House antibusing amendments, which could make it difficult to pass the measure on the House floor.

The House, by two overwhelming votes, has insisted already issued, from going into effect until all appeals have been exhausted. As adopted by the House the provision would have been permanent law. The conference agreement puts a Jan. 1, 1974 expiration date on it.

Supporters of the compromise hope by that time the Supreme Court will have further clarified the busing controversy. It is scheduled to hear arguments in a Denver school case this fall and a decision is expected by the summer of 1973.

The agreement also includes language from the Senate bill urging the courts to place limits on busing based on the age of the children and the distance they would be required to travel. And it would prohibit busing a student to an inferior school.

Falls In Pool, Girl Revives, Then Dies

WAPPINGERS FALLS. A 4-year-old girl revived after being pulled from a swimming pool at her foster home at about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, died 12 hours later at Vassar Hospital where futile attempts had been made to save her life.

Fishkill State Police said Karen Randolph was found by her foster mother, Mrs. Lorraine Larusso, floating in the family pool on New Hamburg Road.

The child was removed to Vassar Hospital by Sloper Willen Ambulance. She was administered first aid enroute and at the hospital she received intensive medical treatment and was temporarily revived. She died at 3:30 a.m. today, police said.

Dr. John Supple, assistant Dutchess county medical examiner, investigated with police. He has not reported the cause of death. The child's foster father is Paul Larusso.

Troopers said the little girl had been playing with two neighbor's children when she reportedly toppled into the water.

Rapkin Scores Liberal Policy

WALLKILL — Gilman has a record of things; he is right, one of them voted in support of such liberal bills as the abortion law, the Transportation Bond Issue, the per cent unemployment rate to exist in Orange, Ulster and Sullivan Counties. That is 4 per cent above the national average. With this kind of leadership, the three counties have become a poverty area. "While posing as a conservative, he has in fact consistently acted like a liberal when voting on matters that vitally affect his constituency. For an example, among others, he like Santa Claus."

In opening his headquarters in Orange and Ulster Counties, Yale Rapkin, Republican Conservative candidate for Congress in the 26th Congressional District urged Republicans to nominate him in the June 20 Primary.

"The man you want to send to Washington," he said, "must put a stop to the spending policy of liberal lawmakers."

"My opponent, Benjamin A. Gilman, has a record of things; he is right, one of them voted in support of such liberal bills as the abortion law, the Transportation Bond Issue, the per cent unemployment rate to exist in Orange, Ulster and Sullivan Counties. That is 4 per cent above the national average. With this kind of leadership, the three counties have become a poverty area. ## Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

LOVE? (Q.) At the senior prom last May I met the most wonderful girl. We became very friendly before graduation but she went away for the summer and I lost touch with her. At the last football game of the season, I saw her sitting alone and went to sit beside her. After that we started dating. At New Year's I gave her a ring. She said she loved it, but wasn't ready to fall madly in love with anyone.

We have dated several times since then and I had just about decided she cared for me. But last week we were talking on the phone and she told me she loved another boy she had known since childhood. That was really a blow.

Then the next day she called me back and apologized and told me she thought I was more important to her than the other boy.

Now I don't know where I stand. I know I love her and want to tell her, but I am scared if I do I will run her off. I know she likes me very much, but I don't know if it is love. With me it is. — Ready To Tell Her in Texas.

(A.) Your friend is giving you signals that she likes you but is afraid you are hurrying her too fast. Stay with her, but ease up on the pressure. You will know when she is ready to be told—and to tell you.

LONELY? (Q.) Everybody thinks I am a weirdo. I try to be nice but it doesn't work. They all ignore me. At times I get crank calls. It is not that I am shy, but I get nervous around people I don't know. Is there any way I can make friends? I am awfully lonely. — No Friends in Florida.

(A.) No one in whom you are genuinely interested will ignore you. To make friends you must first be a friend. A friend is genuinely interested in those around him.

Try being interested in the boys and girls you know instead of just being nice to them. If you do so you will find friends.

Tree Special . . . Delightful

NEW YORK (AP) — A gnarled and ancient African tree was the star of a delightful television special on NBC Tuesday night.

The tree, the baobab, grows in Kenya and some still standing are believed to be 2,000 years old. For many birds, insects, reptiles and animals, it is really a tree of life.

Orest Welles, the narrator, described the tree of the special as "a busy apartment block." Alan and Joan Root picked one tree, focused their cameras on it through the wet and dry seasons. They found as many as 20 different species of birds nesting in that one.

They used time-lapse photography to show the complicated nests built by some species. They reported the courting habits of others. They even put glass on one side of a hollow trunk and were able to show the nesting habits of the red-beaked hornbill.

There was also special attention given to a bird called the honey guide as it led native honey hunters to bees nests. After the men had removed the combs, they were careful to leave a choice portion as a reward for the bird.

There were great shots of the tree's nocturnal inhabitants—almost a ballet as a pair of bush babies scurried around. Even a mother bat and her young seemed loveable in the program's context.

CBS bumped a "Glen Campbell Show" rerun early in the evening for an hour-long briefing on the state of the nation, "Where We Stand." It seemed designed to help the public understand the motives and the importance of President Nixon's impending visit to Russia.

There were several short interviews—with a retired U.S. general, a British military expert and an economist—plus some animated charts and film clips, but the hour was essentially a lecture by correspondent Charles Collingwood on the state of the nation in competitive areas of military preparedness, diplomacy, economics and its rank in world leadership.

The tone of the lecture was cool and analytical rather than critical. For those who listened carefully—and it was not always easy listening—it was a program which may make recent events in Moscow later this month have more meaning.

Lull in the Demonstrations

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

Twelve anti-war protesters arrested in Kingston Monday appeared in City Court today and Bard College students continued their demonstration at the IBM plant in the Town of Ulster, but most local peace activities have temporarily subsided as students prepare for a massive rally and march in Washington, D. C. this weekend.

Reports from New Paltz, Vassar and Bard Colleges indicate that hundreds of students will journey to Washington to participate in the planned demonstration against the continued fighting in Indochina.

Monday's confrontation between police and demonstrators climaxed several days of local anti-war protests. Twelve were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct Monday and police expected the protests to continue Tuesday. They showed up outside the Selective Service office Tuesday morning, but the demonstrators didn't.

Arrested Monday were: Mark Turof, 17, of Woodmere, N.Y.; Wendy E. Stevens, 18, of New Paltz; Michael A. Stoller, 20, of New Paltz; Michael J. Stamm, 22, of Poughkeepsie; David A. Oberkirch, 19, of Ulster Park; Richard Margolis, 25, of New Paltz; Miriam P. Kapell, 18, of New Paltz; Daniel A. Kohane, 19, of New Paltz; Patricia A. Johnson, 20, of New Paltz; Leon E. Goodkian, 18, of Commack, N.Y.; Katherine A. Gordon, 24, of Kerhonkson and Margaret Culp, 19, of West Hurley.

Their cases were adjourned and bail was continued at $50 each.

When 12 of the 17 protesters were arrested Monday, leaders placed a hasty call for reinforcements. Several dozen students from Bard and New Paltz responded, and continued the demonstration into the afternoon.

About a dozen Bard College students, meanwhile, are continuing their protest at the IBM plant. IBM officials have reported that there has been no trouble at the plant and that "the lines of communication" have been kept open between students and company officials.

IBM, however, has turned down a request by the students to utilize a conference room to conduct educational programs with the employees. Since the protest began Monday, a number of employees have stopped to speak with the students while they leaflet along Neighborhood Road.

Meanwhile, 150 demonstrators, including baby doctor and anti-war activist Benjamin Spock, were arrested Tuesday night while staging a peaceful sit-in in the Capitol Rotunda. And 175 demonstrators were arrested in four separate incidents in New England cities Tuesday.

Antiwar Senators Will Change Vote

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key senators supporting an end-to-war amendment say they will vote against their own measure because of a White House-backed provision requiring a cease-fire before all U.S. troops are withdrawn from Vietnam.

Tuesday's 47-43 Senate vote adding the cease-fire clause was the first congressional action on war legislation since President Nixon ordered the mining of North Vietnamese ports.

The vote added the clause to an amendment by Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, that would cut off all funds for U.S. fighting in Vietnam.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, whose Foreign Relations Committee first approved the Case-Church amendment, said after losing the key vote Tuesday that he would just as soon drop the amendment for the time being. But several backers of the amendment, meeting in the office of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, failed to agree what course to take.

The Case-Church amendment would end all appropriations for U.S. fighting in Vietnam four months after American war prisoners are released. The language added Tuesday would allow the cutoff only if an internationally supervised cease-fire were in effect.

That requirement, Case-Church supporters contended, would keep the United States in Vietnam indefinitely to protect the Saigon government.

The new wording, said Church, "so emasculates Case-Church as to render it meaningless." He said he, like Fulbright, would vote against the amended version.

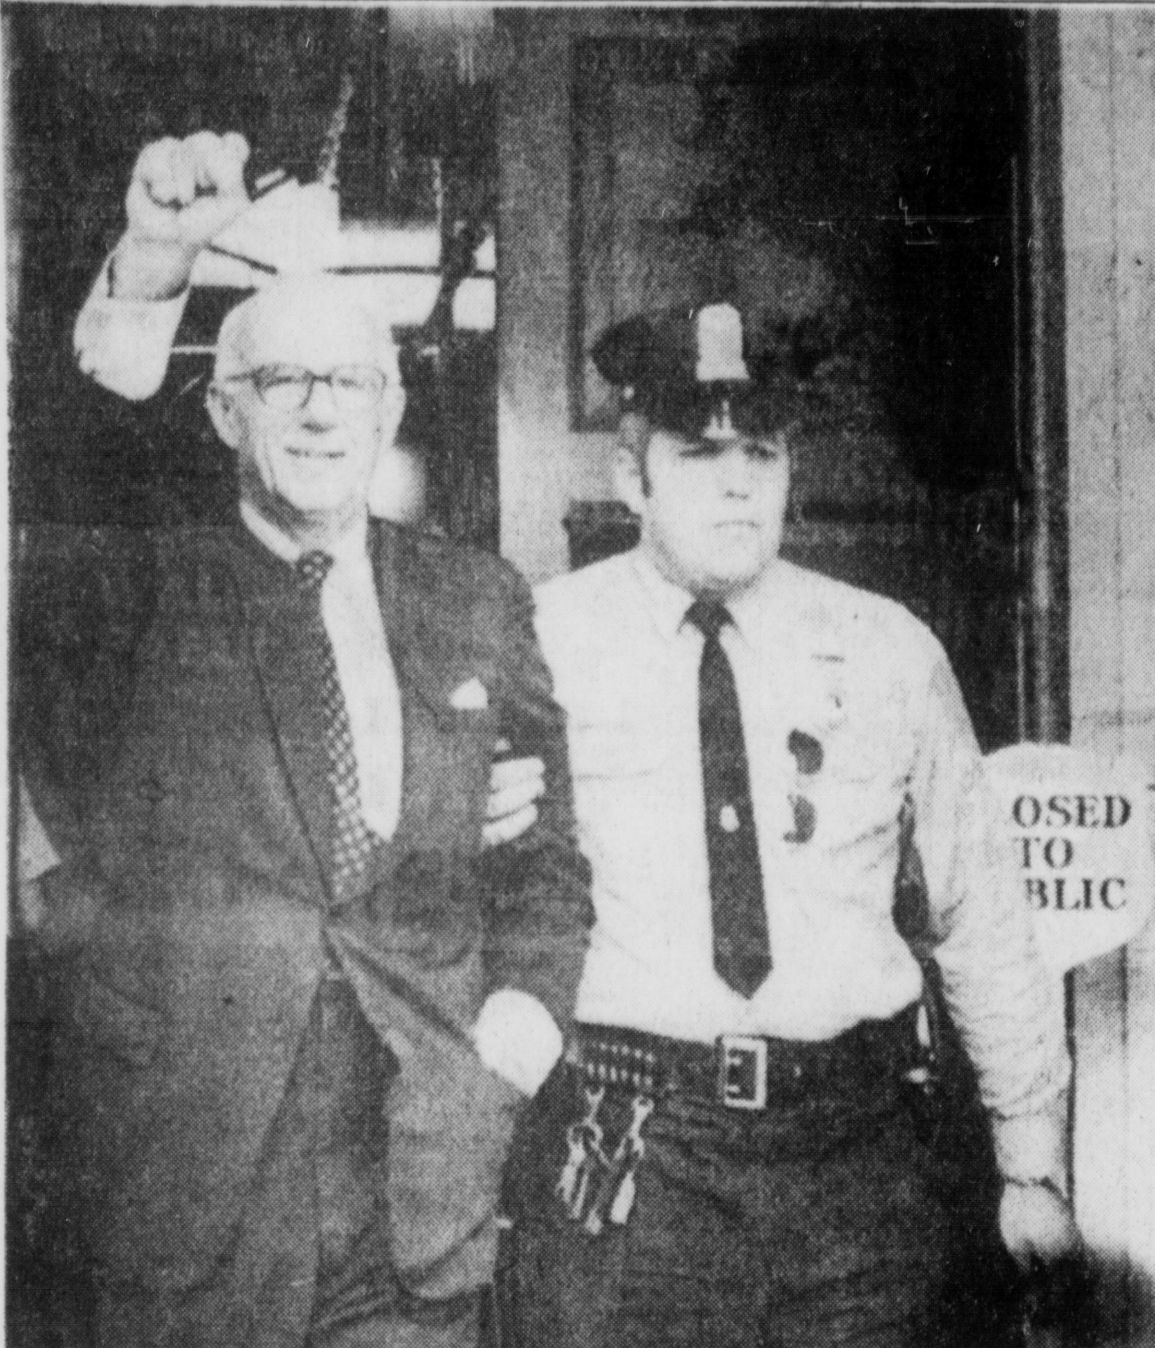

But Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W. Va., sponsor of the cease-fire proviso, said the Senate should not hinder Nixon's chances of winning a cease-fire, especially with his Moscow summit scheduled next week.

The Senate action came eight days after Nixon announced the mining of North Vietnamese ports and offered to withdraw all U.S. troops four months after a cease-fire is declared and American POWs are returned.

Mansfield introduced yet another amendment to take the place of the Case-Church version.

The Mansfield measure says U.S. troops would be withdrawn from Vietnam by Aug. 31 and money for their support cut off at that time. All U.S. combat involvement in Indochina would end with the return of POWs and a cease-fire between the United States and the Viet Cong and its allies. Saigon would not necessarily be included in cease-fire talks.

Nixon on Shultz Appointment... 'Not a Changing of the Rules'

WASHINGTON (AP) — John B. Connally's departure as secretary of the Treasury will leave the key economic job in the hands of George P. Shultz, the quiet but tough budget director, in a move indicating no immediate change in President Nixon's economic policies.

Connally, who in 16 turbulent months as the Treasury chief guided the nation through wage-price controls and the first dollar devaluation since 1934, announced Tuesday that he is resigning to return to private life. Nixon nominated Shultz, a former secretary of Labor, to take his place.

"There will be a changing of the guard but not a changing of the rules," Nixon told Connally, Shultz and top members of the Treasury Department staff at a meeting shortly after the Connally resignation was announced.

Shultz, former dean of the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business, brings none of the flamboyance that characterized Connally's reign as Treasury secretary, but the soft-spoken director of the Office of Management and Budget is known as a sharp administrator who is one of the Nixon's closest domestic advisors.

Shultz long expressed an aversion for wage-price controls before Nixon, with inflation soaring, reversed himself last Aug. 15 and imposed a wage-price freeze. That decision marked Connally's ascendancy as the President's top economic aide, but Shultz still maintained considerable power behind the scenes.

During Connally's time as Treasury secretary, the former Texas governor—the only Democrat in Nixon's cabinet—emphasized Nixon's flexibility in economic matters, a flexibility that Connally himself showed in office. Often Connally told newsmen that the President would be prepared to take any action necessary to get the economy going, reduce inflation and cut the high unemployment rate.

Shultz takes over at a time when the main policy actions have already been taken—the budget is expansive, monetary policy is easy, and wage-price controls are in place and scheduled to last at least through the end of the year.

But his toughest role may be in the field of international economics, where Connally made his mark more forcefully than anywhere else, causing some foreign countries to characterize him as a "bully boy" in negotiating international monetary questions.

Now, Shultz must take on the chore of negotiating monetary reform with other nations rebuilding the system that was formed only 25 years ago.

Connally's departure in creased speculation that the President may tap him as a running mate. The secretary departed amid lavish praise from the President and said that "I have no political aspirations and no particular ambitions."

At the Office of Management and Budget, Shultz will be replaced by the agency's deputy director, Caspar Weinberger. The OMB is responsible for putting together the federal budget each year.

Eight Moscow Talks Scheduled

MOSCOW (UPI)—President Nixon will meet at least eight times for talks with the ruling Soviet trio next week but the agenda for both sides is wide open, high-level Soviet sources said today.

Despite more than a year of preliminary diplomatic exchanges about the trip, which Nixon said Tuesday definitely was on, no specific agenda has been set, the source said.

The President and his closest advisors, including Dr. Henry Kissinger who visited Moscow secretly last month, will meet at least twice daily for the first four days of the visit with Communist party Secretary General Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

The sources said. Private talks also may be held.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who did not participate in the plenary sessions during Nixon's visit to Peking in February, will participate in the Moscow talks, they said.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko also will be present. The largest single group of newsmen ever to visit the Soviet Union will accompany the presidential party.

The sources said 350 newsmen, including resident foreign correspondents and Soviet reporters, have been accredited. Of that total, 238 will fly in, including 111 wire service and newspaper reporters, 64 network newsmen and technicians and 64 photographers and photo lab specialists.

A press center with 10 telex lines and 20 international telephone lines will be set up in the new Hotel Intourist, a few minutes walk from the Kremlin.

Veteran Kremlinologists expect the Soviets to keep a tight lid on news during the talks but note it is the first time the Soviet government has set up a press center for a visiting head of state.

Price of Gold... Record Spurt

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold spurted ahead to new record levels as soon as European free markets opened today, touching $58.50 an ounce in Frankfurt.

With demand heavy, dealers said price levels were responding to the limitation of South African gold supplies to the free market.

Dr. Theunis De Jongh, governor of the Reserve Bank of South Africa, confirmed in Johannesburg Tuesday that South Africa, the world's biggest gold supplier, is no longer selling its full weekly output of gold.

In Frankfurt, the price of gold was fixed at $55.75-$56.25 an ounce at the opening but quickly shot up to $57.50-$58.50 compared with Tuesday's close of $54.70-$55.20.

Dealers said demand was heavy on a tight market.

On the active London market, the price of the metal moved up to $57.50 an ounce at the fixing compared with $55-$55.50 late Tuesday.

In Zurich the price was fixed at the opening at $56-$56.75.

Tuesday's close was $54.50-$55.

Gold closed in Hong Kong at $56.20 an ounce, up $2 from Tuesday's closing rate. Dealers said the jump was due to soaring prices in Europe.

Dealers do not believe monetary speculation is responsible for the latest surge in gold prices and the U.S. dollar is steady in European capitals.
